MRS. INEZ BECHTEL

Dedication

Amid the rules that must be taught, the discipline that must be enforced, and the monotony of programmed courses, comes the one person able to spark creativity in a student or show the reasoning which makes clear all of man's accepted principles. This is the endowment of a truly dedicated teacher, one who is concerned with the future of each of her students.

Such a teacher is Mrs. Inez Bechtel, known and respected by all students at New Carlisle High School who have studied in her classes. With pride and heartfelt gratitude, it is to her that we dedicate the 1965 Olive Branch.

Mrs. Bechtel comments as one of her students is installed during National Honor Society induction ceremonies.

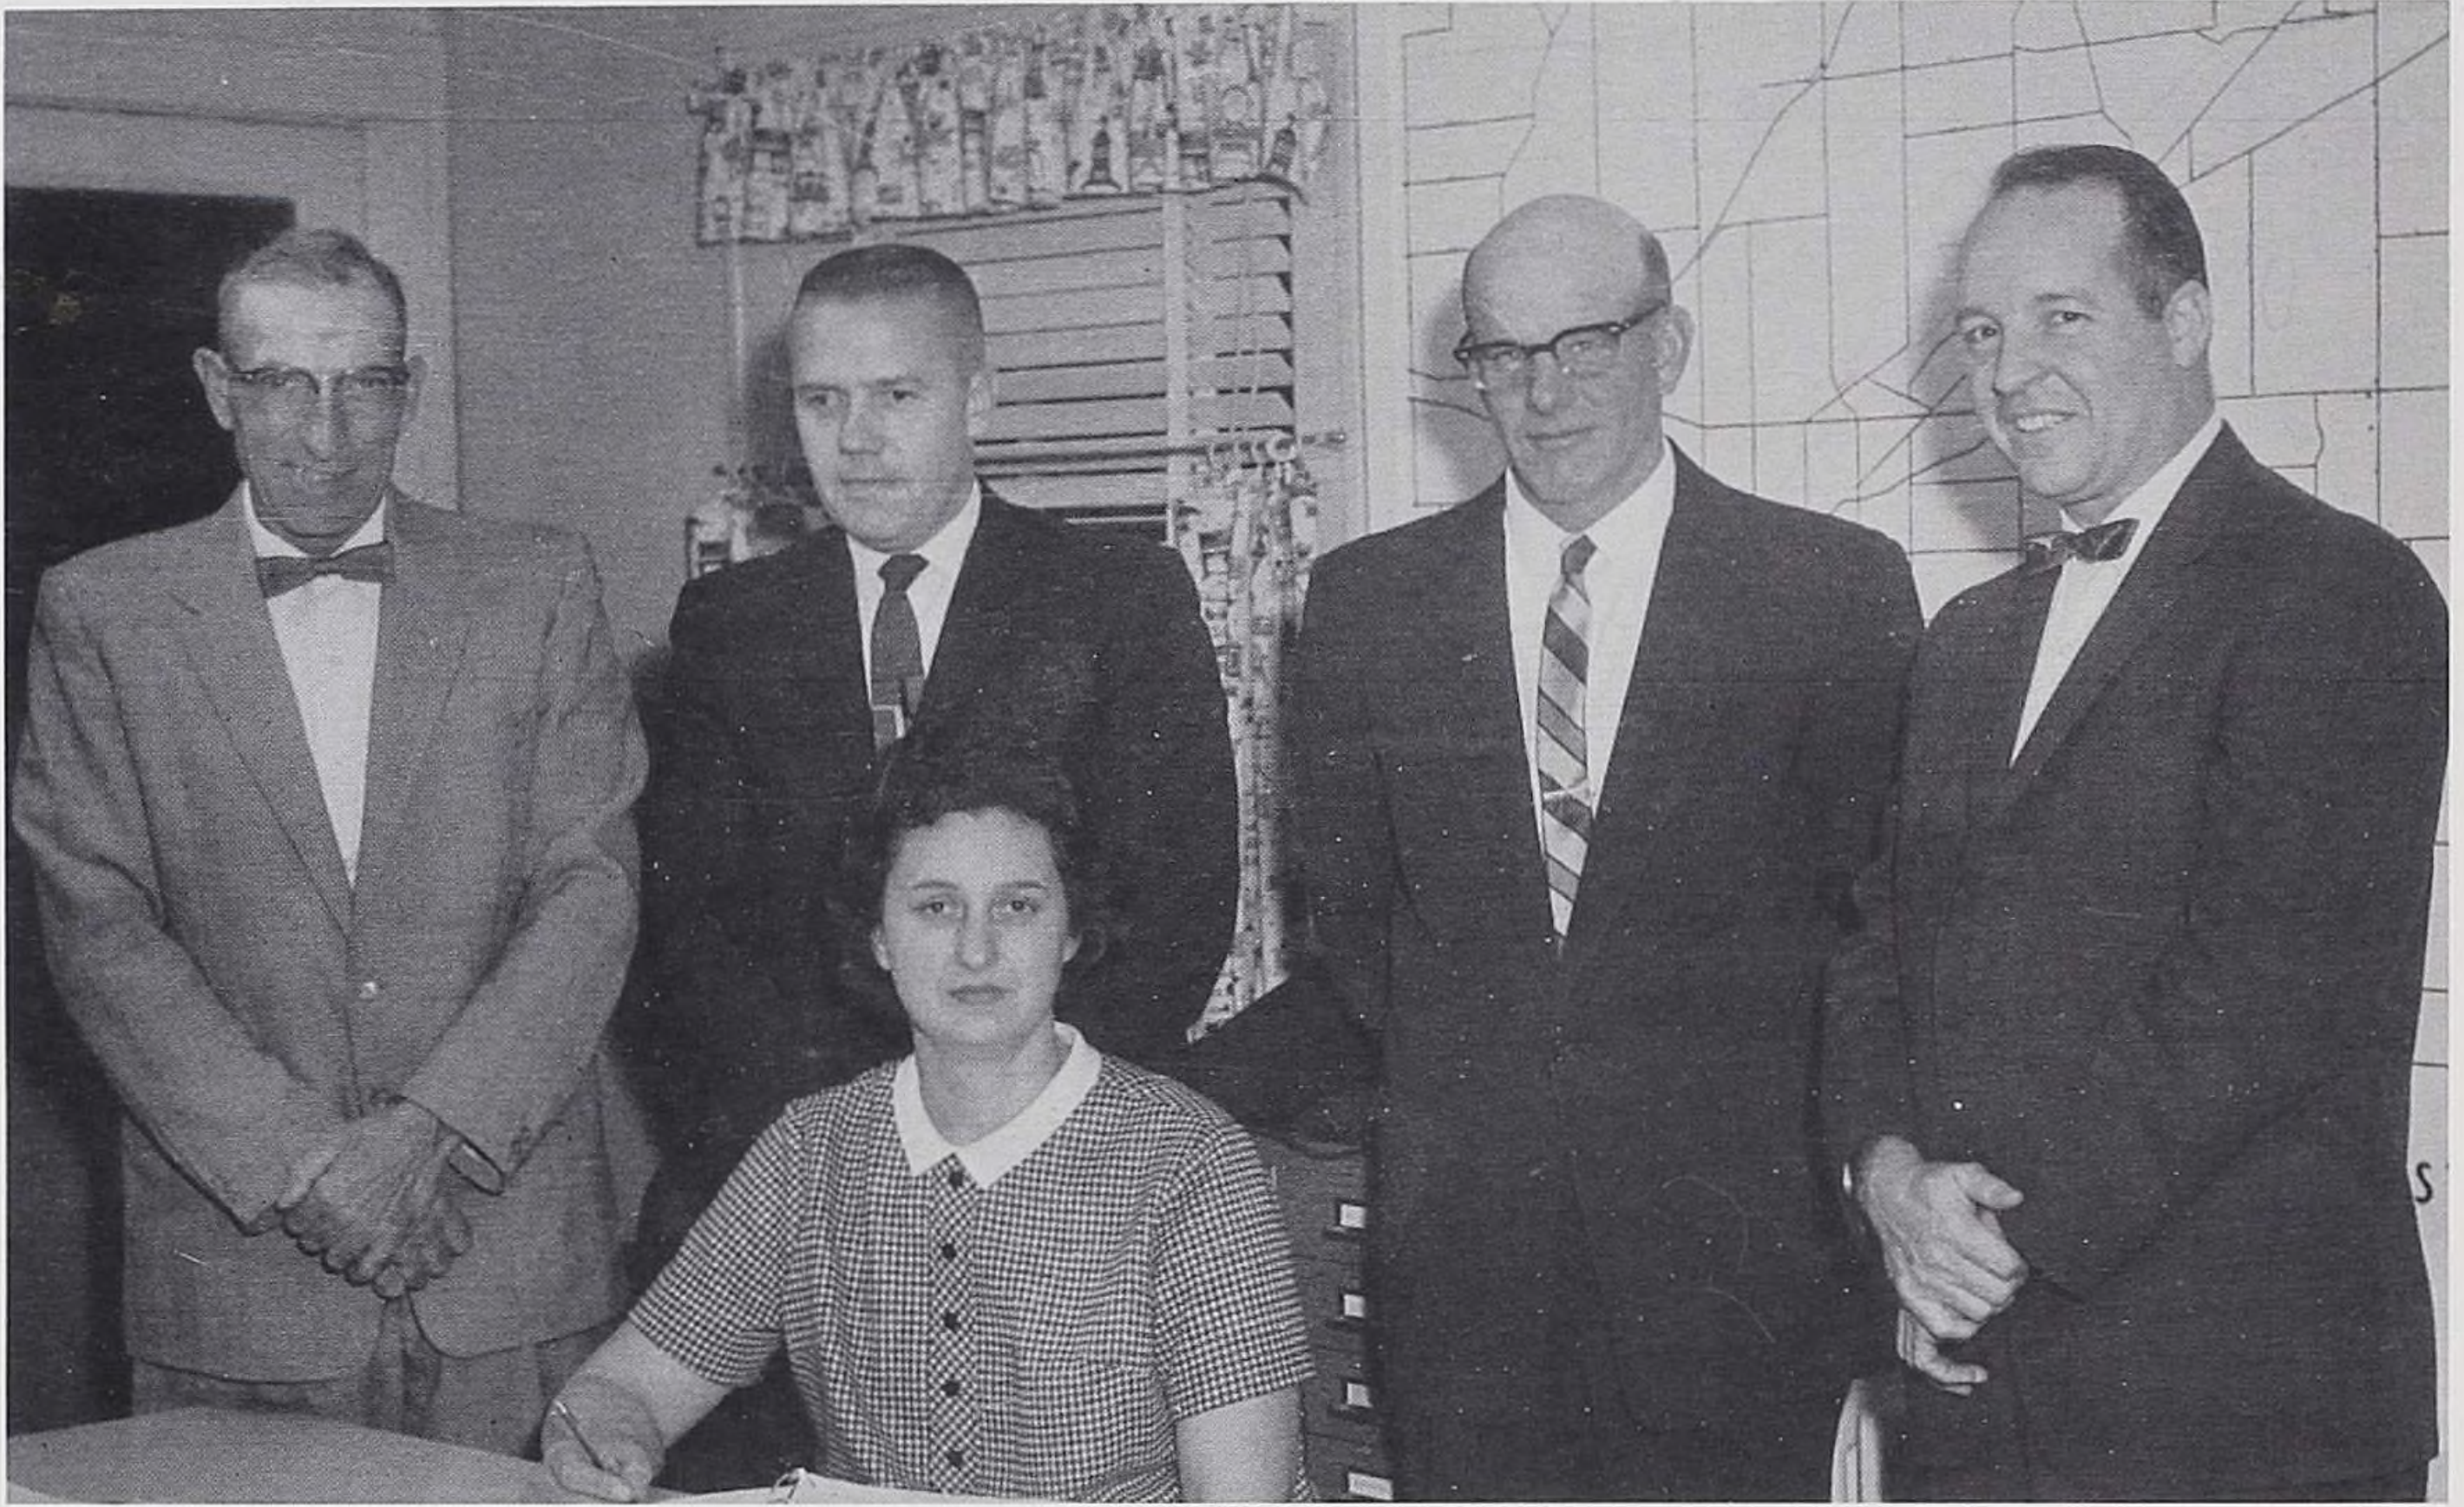

Students always find Mrs. Bechtel eager to answer questions.

School Administration Led Student Body.

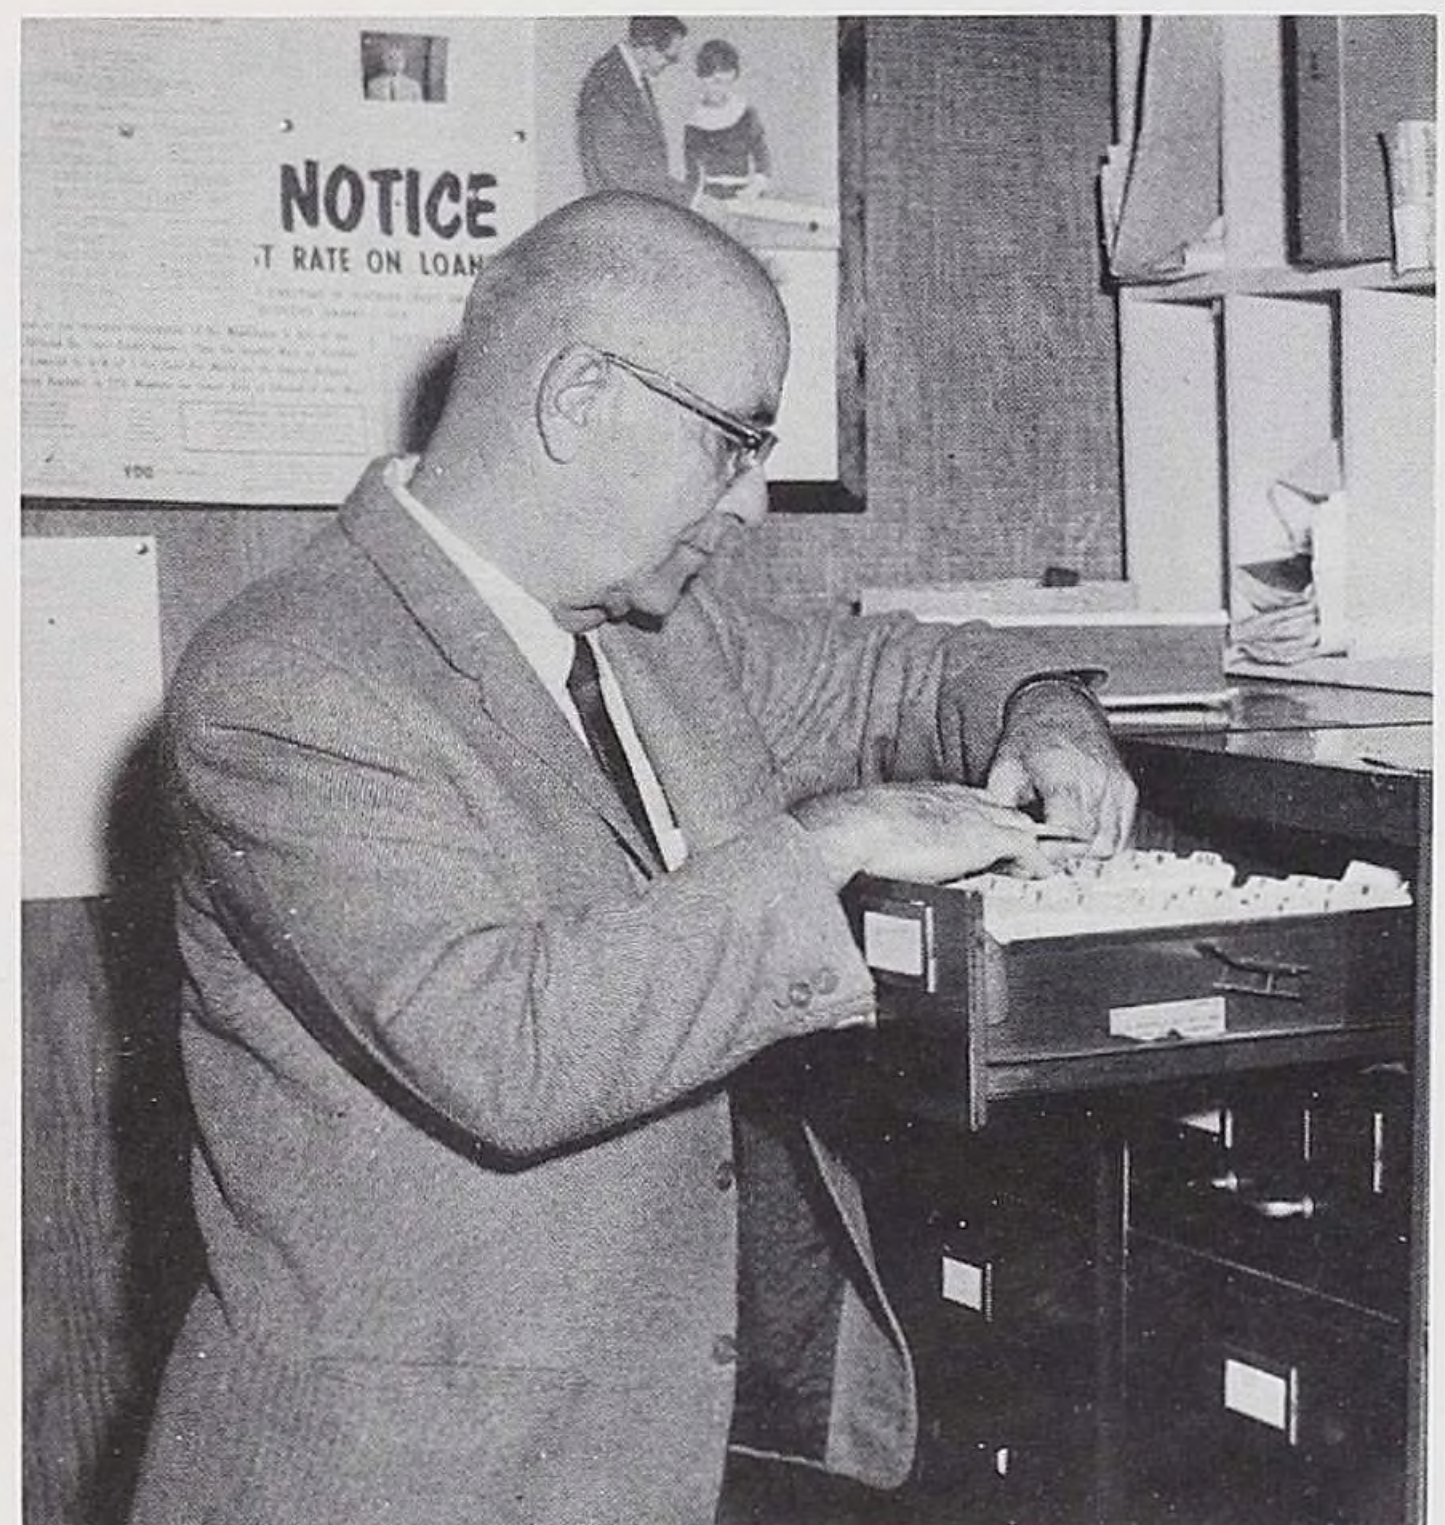

Efficiency seemed the key word for this year's administrative people in New Carlisle High School. Mr. Amzie K. Miller, principal, directed all school projects and functions. Mr. Orwin Shaw, assistant principal, handled all aspects of attendance records while teaching two classes. Mrs. Virginia Dodd, registrar, was responsible for all money used by the school and its many extra-curricular activities. Mrs. Helen Runnels, clerk, took charge of all student files on health and curricula.

Mrs. Runnels holds open the door for Mrs. Dodd, who has seemingly been left holding the bag . . .

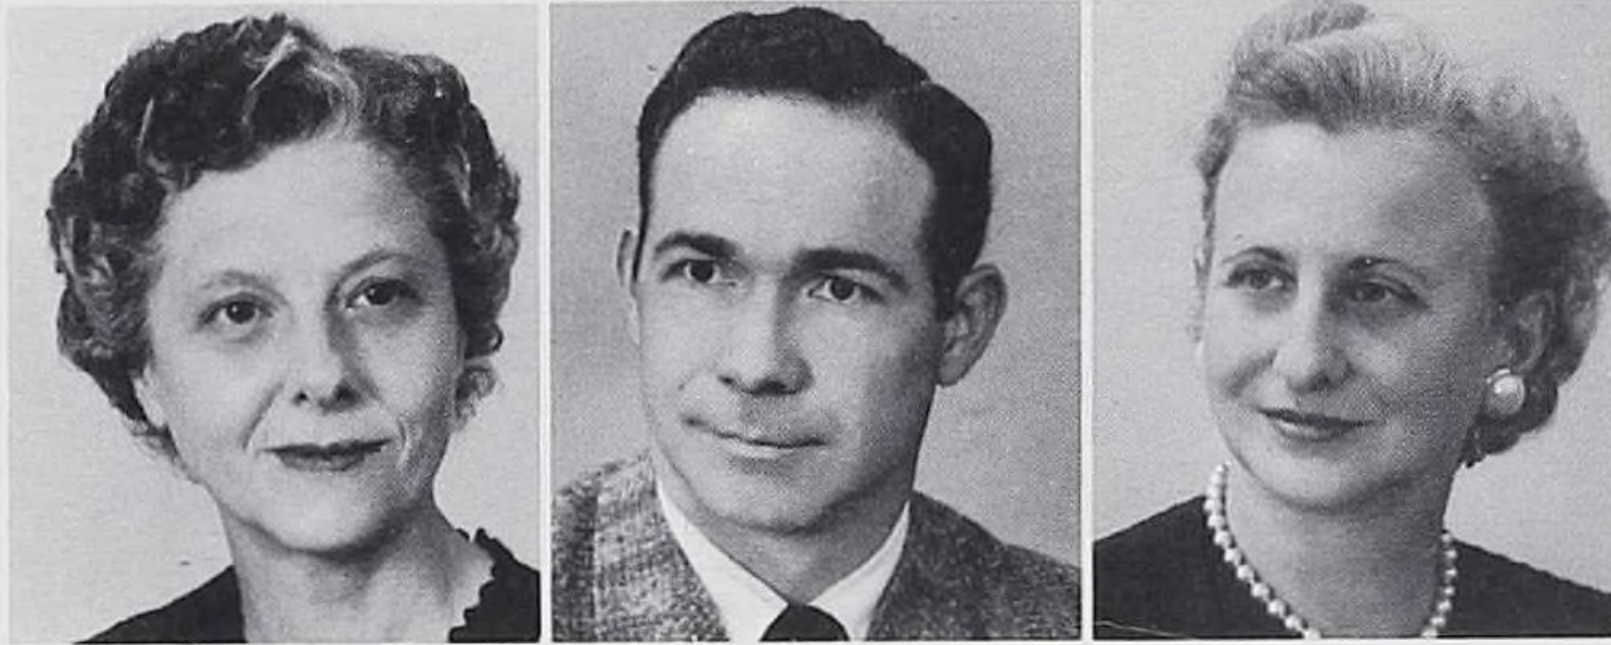

Mr. Shaw kept records of student attendance and lack thereof.

The senior officers pause around the runway to discuss some important class decisions.

The class of 1965 was indeed an unusual and outstanding one. It was the largest to graduate in the history of New Carlisle High School. With 141 students, the class became known for several "firsts."

This class, as part of their junior year, became daring and attempted theatre-in-the-round. Two one-act plays were presented with few props and little scenery. To follow through with this concept, the senior play which they presented used no fixed settings.

The class was also the first to be guests at a junior prom held in the school gymnasium.

The class of 1965 had one "last," too! It is the last class attending New Carlisle to have, as its members, students from Warren Township.

The officers were: Bill Johnson, president; Dick Nelson, vice-president; Diana Arick, secretary; and Kathy McGawn, treasurer.

Juniors Were First to Hold Prom in Gym

Combining the artistic ingenuity of the decoration committee and the magnificent playing of the band, the Junior class turned the Olive Township Elementary Gymnasium into a magical world for the 1964-65 Junior-Senior Prom.

Before this big event, the class ordered their class rings. This new and unusual ring was known as "The Twist."

With all the many plans of choosing their rings and deciding the location and theme of the Prom, the class still had time for the fun of the Junior class party.

"Magazines, anyone?" was the theme of the sophomore year. They set their goal at $2,400 and everyone eagerly sold magazines to achieve it. A portable hair-dryer, clock radio, camera, and other great prizes were offered to the top salesmen. The money from the magazine sales will help pay for the prom next year.

Dark brown was chosen by the Class of '67 to be the color of their class jackets. The lettering of the jacket was white outlined in beige. After a long wait, the jackets arrived and were worn with enthusiasm by the class members.

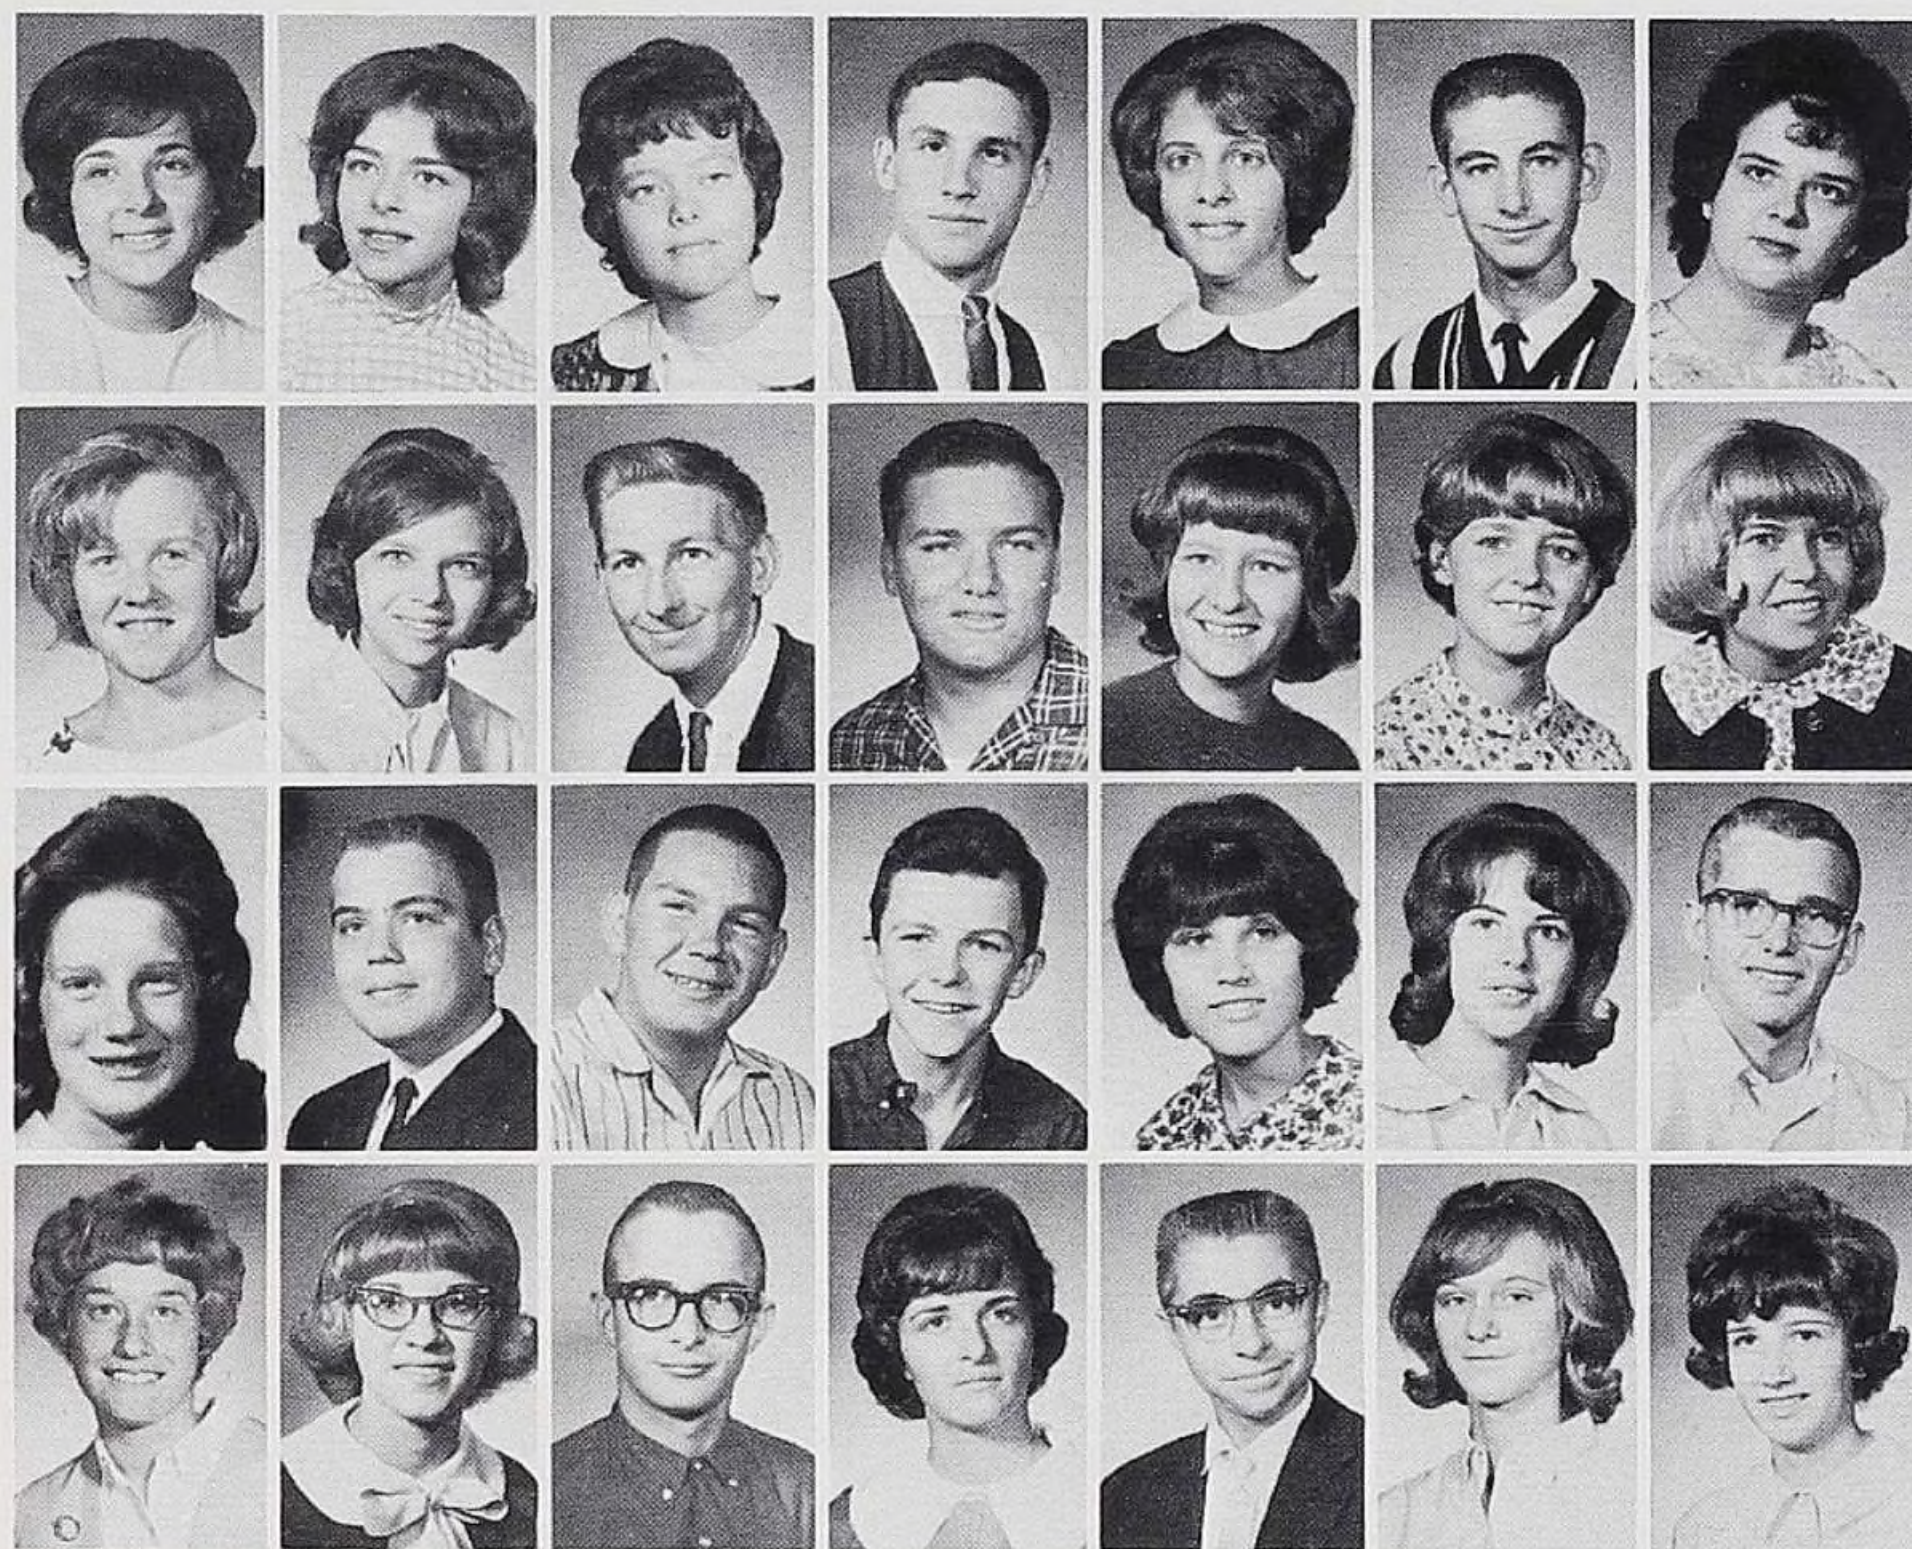

The sponsors of the class were: Mrs. Patricia Lynch, Mr. Robert Noel, Mr. James Woolsey, Mr. Millard Taylor, and Mr. Harry Tolmen.

The class of 1968 began its first year at NCHS by electing cheerleaders. These Freshmen really had a reason to cheer, for both their football and basketball teams had a terrific season.

The Freshmen then jumped into the plans for their class party. All of the class had so much enthusiasm that the party turned out to be a great success.

With the Freshman class entering their first year as high school students, they found themselves joining clubs, becoming interested with high school activities and receiving many new responsibilities.

The Freshmen had taken more advanced studies which presented challenges as the year progressed.

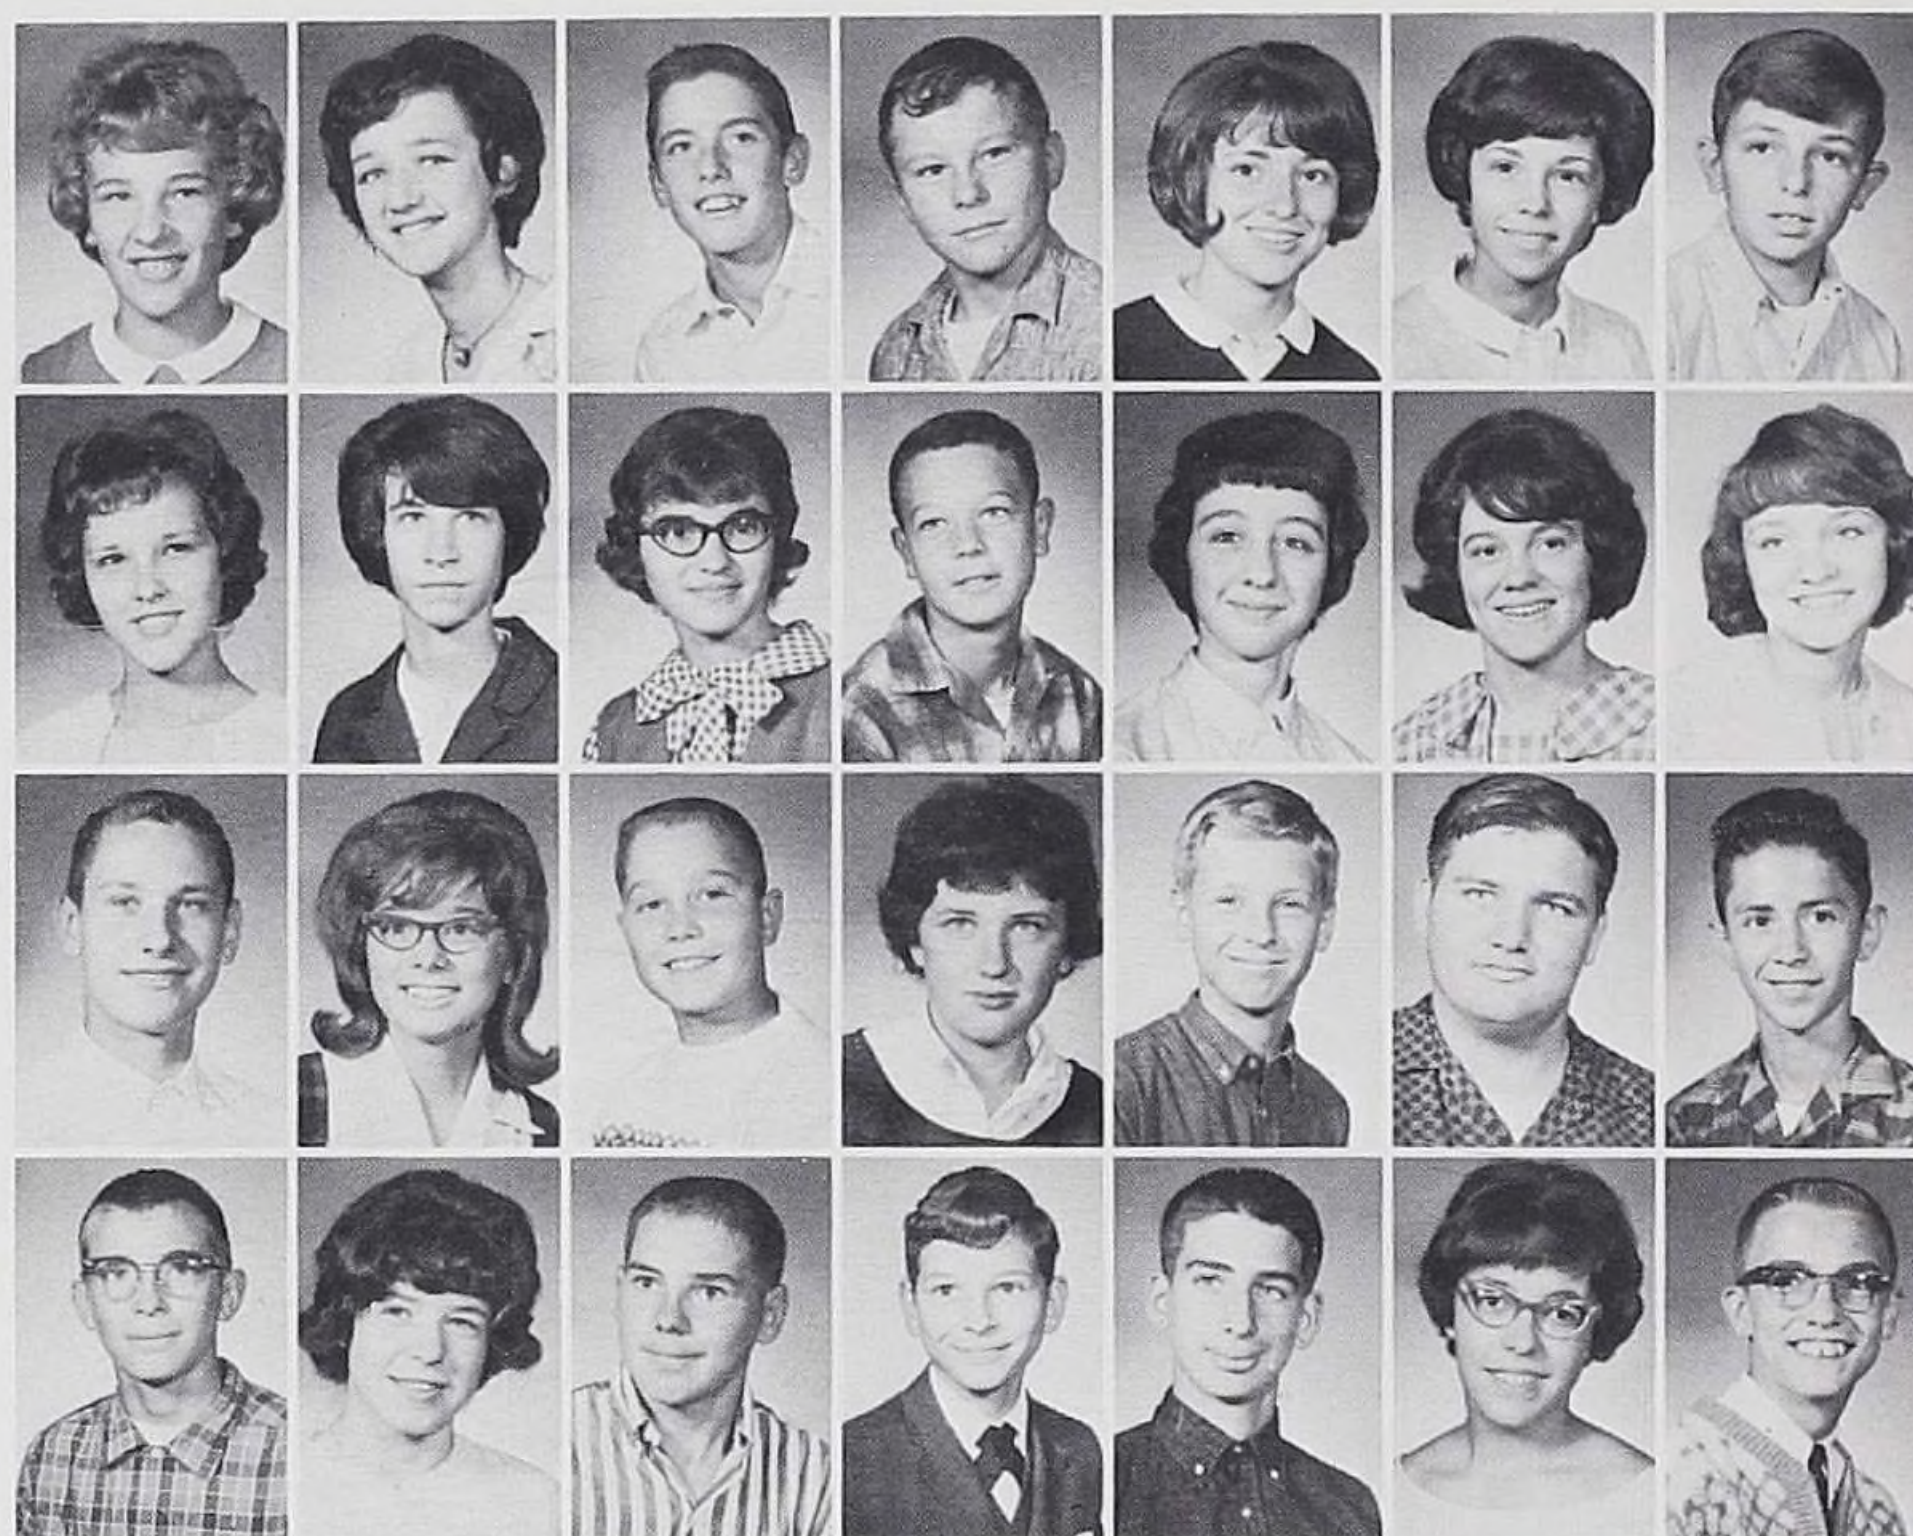

Freshman class officers were: Richard Krause, president; Brenda Cox, vice-president; Barb Kulwicki, secretary; and Cindy Bates, treasurer.

Seniors gather around Mrs. Ekstrom in order to register for their final year.

Registration Starts Busy Year of Studies.

September 1 saw the return of seven hundred students to New Carlisle High School. The essential activities of acquiring a locker, registering for classes and discussing schedules filled the day with bustling movement. Faculty members had opportunity to meet with their classes in order to distribute materials and briefly outline the purposes of their courses.

Mr. Thomas helps students correct schedule problems.

Students gather around Mr. Overmeyer as he assigns lockers for the forthcoming year of studies.

Mr. Shaw watches typing students as they take a timed test.

Students Prepared for Future Careers

Would you like to become a private secretary or a stenographer after graduation? Two years of shorthand are offered for girls working toward this goal.

Girls in second year shorthand take dictation from 60 to 200 words a minute and discuss such problems as what to wear to the office, makeup, grooming, and employer-employee relationships. Students who had an accounting career in mind enrolled in bookkeeping.

In Typing II, students build their accuracy and speed and learn how to apply their skill to problems in the office.

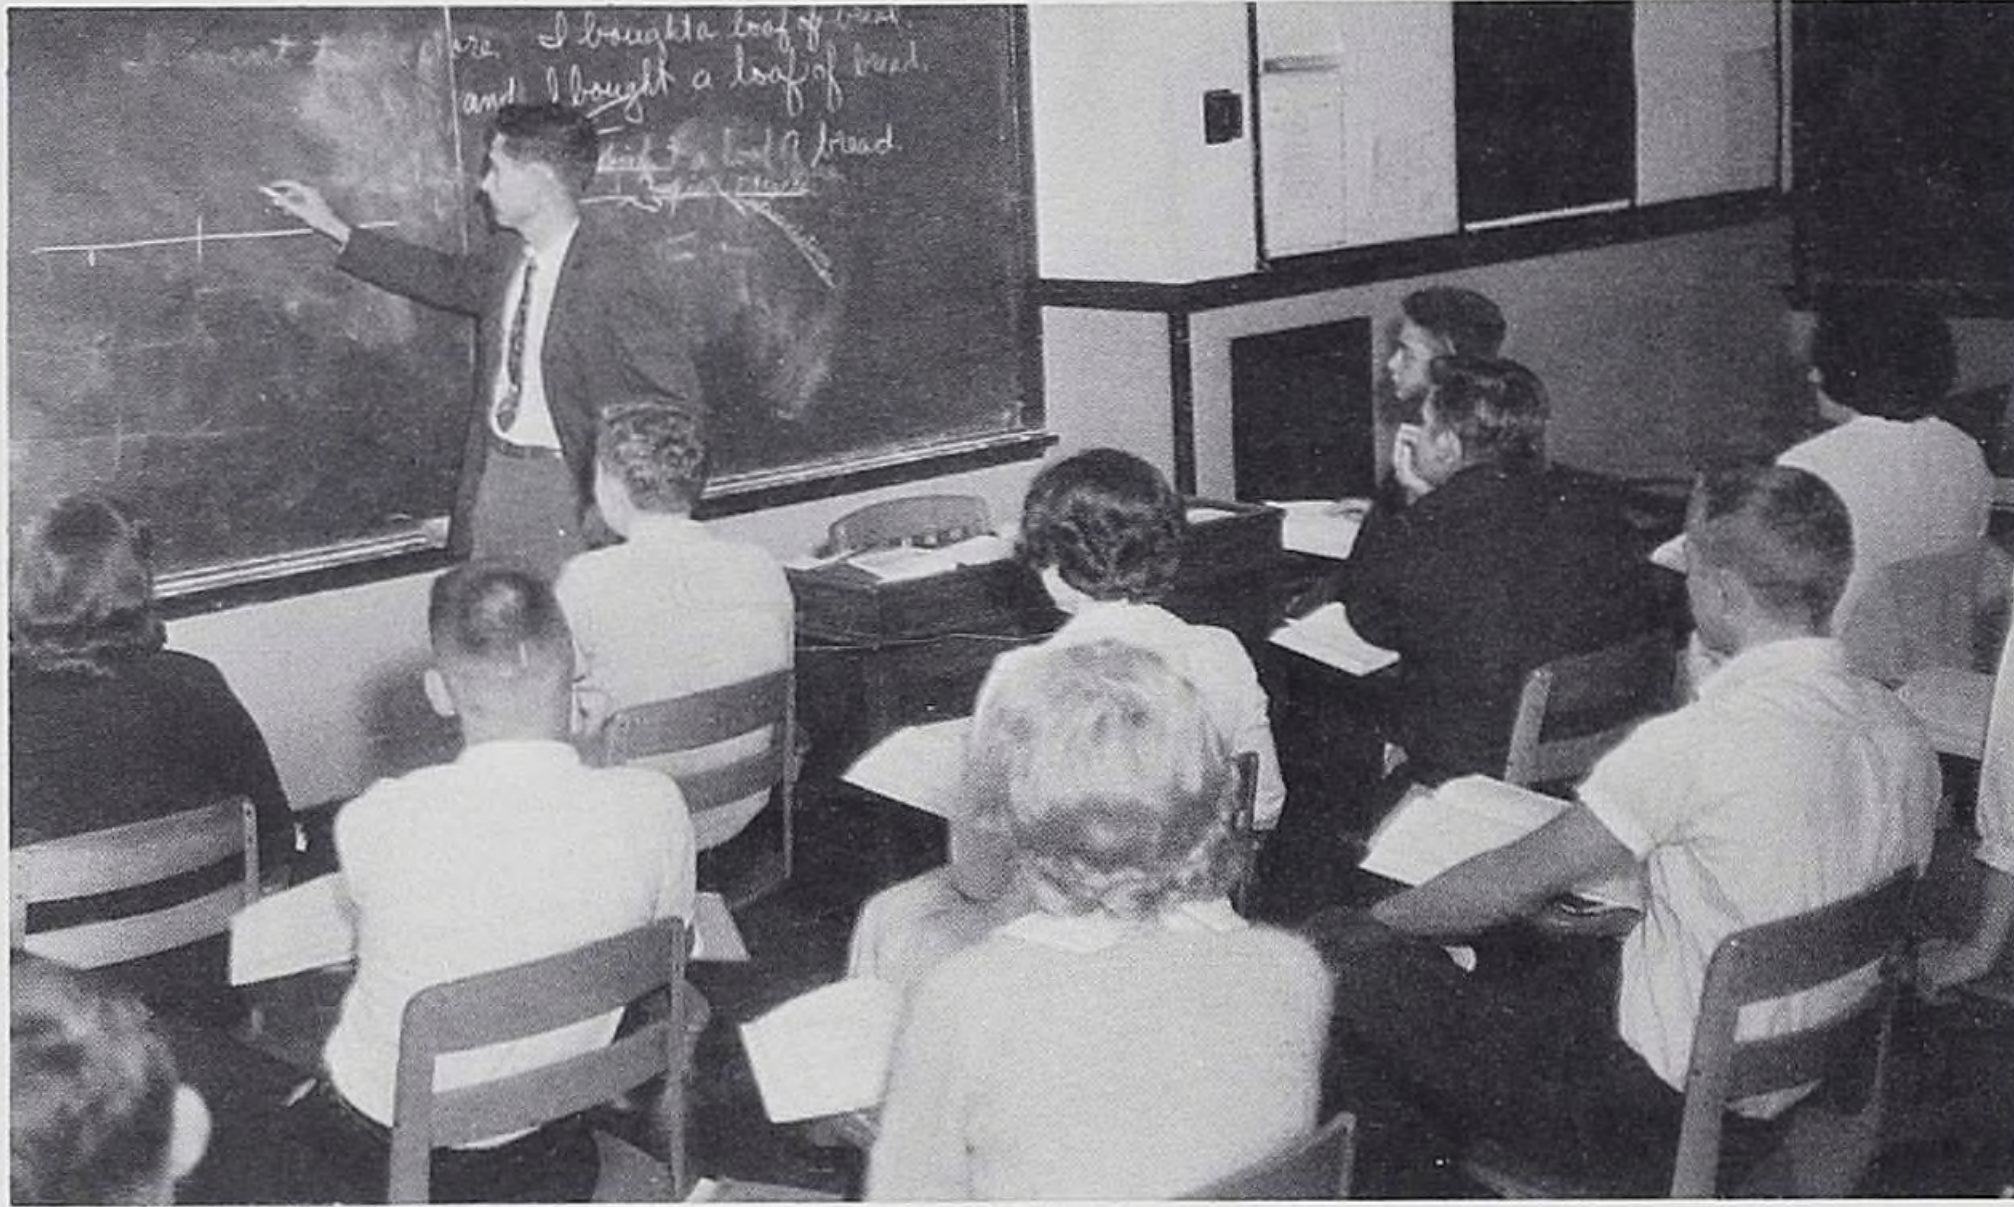

There are many things a person should know concerning legal problems, and business law was offered for just this purpose. The discussions, although sometimes very confusing to the students, were very helpful when test time came around.

Mr. Zielinski aids his general business students during one of their class hours.

Business law students find that everyday problems with legal aspects can often be amusing.

Sentence diagramming, a basic procedure in the English class, is demonstrated by Mr. Haselton.

English Program Was Altered.

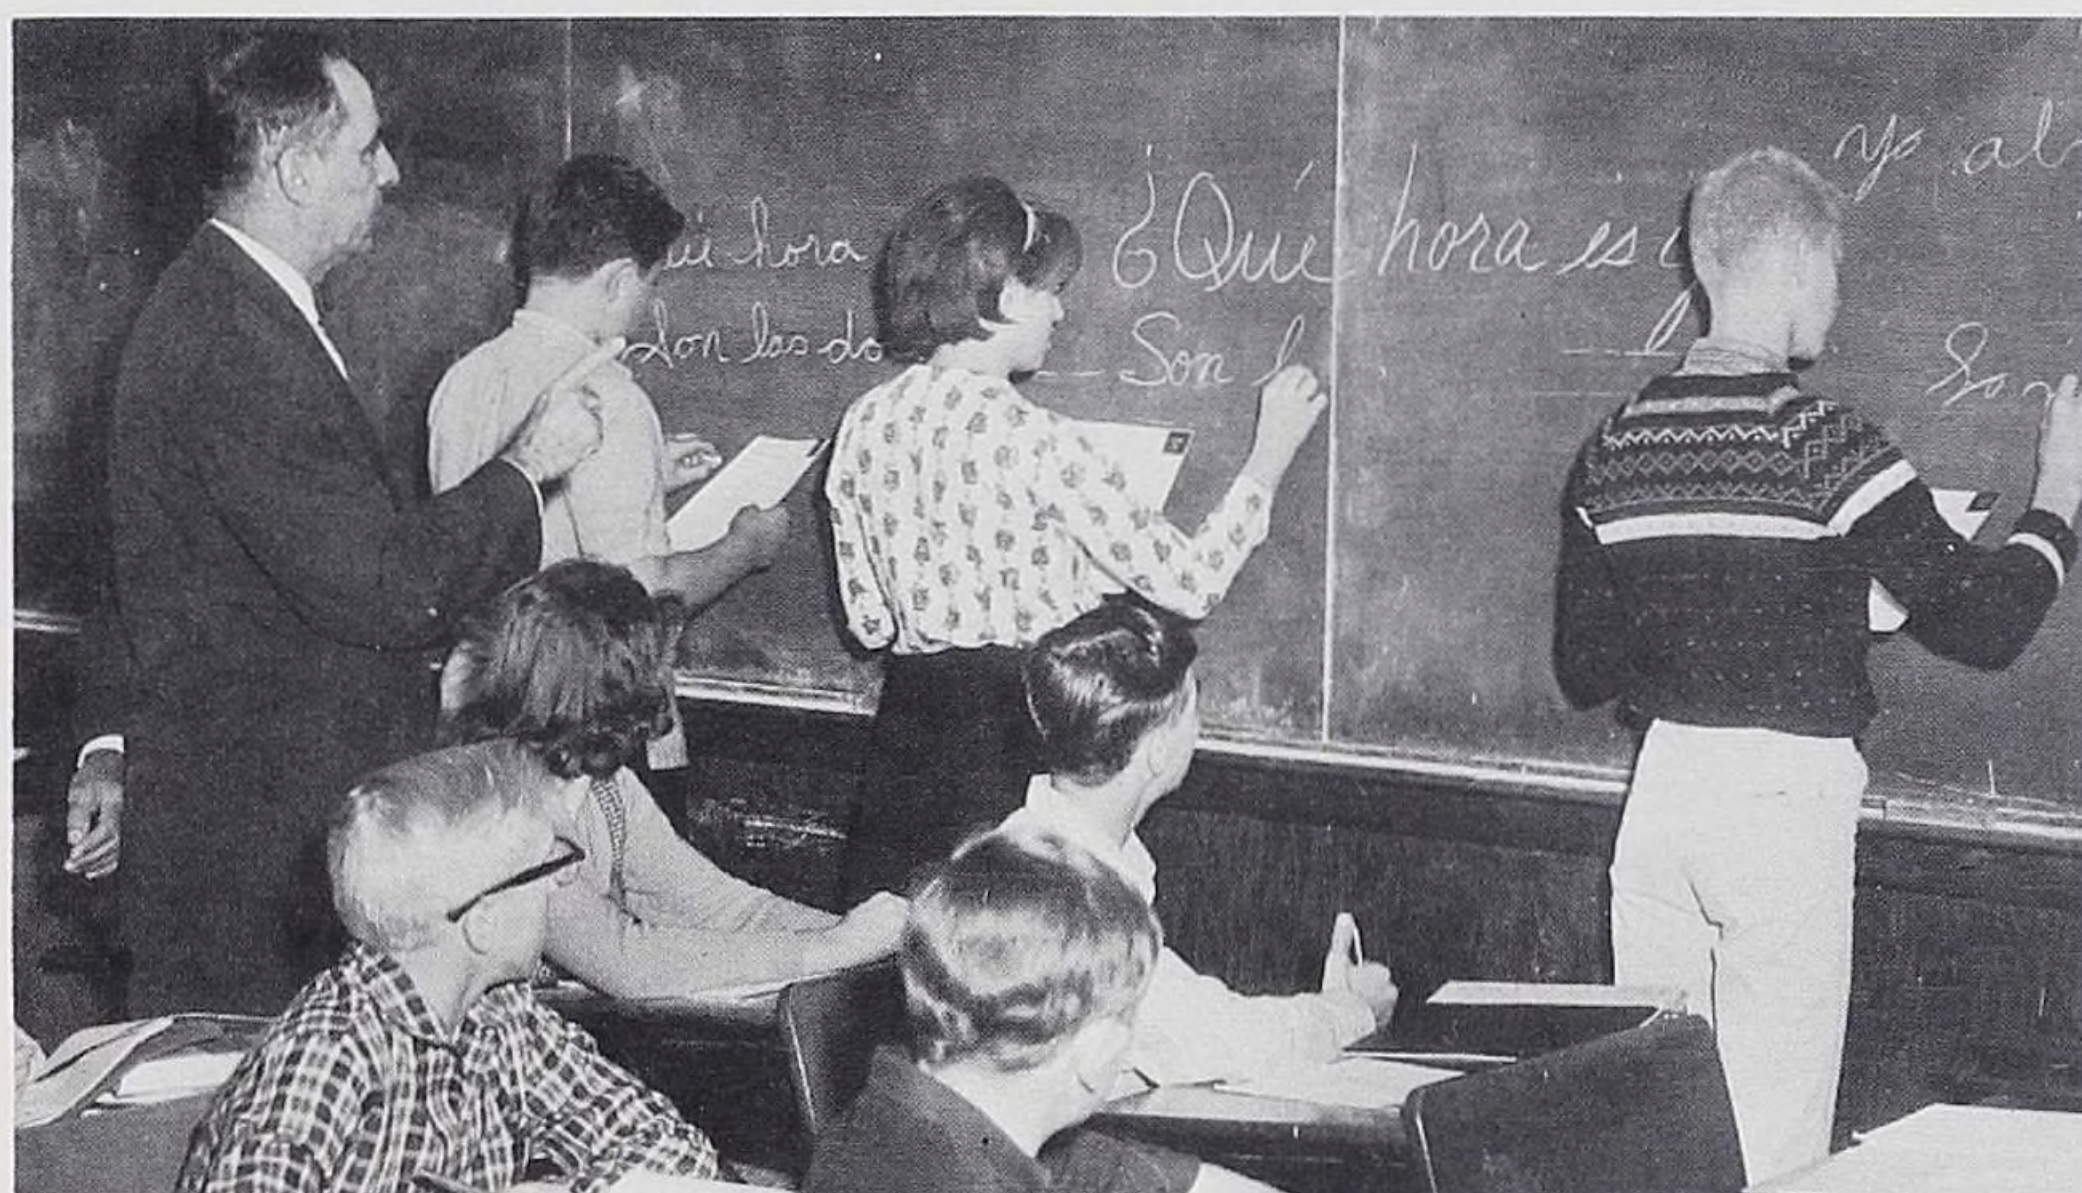

Because our English language is a constantly changing one, new methods are continually being introduced in the study of English. To keep up with the times, New Carlisle High School has initiated various programs in the past. The school year of 1964 to 1965 was no exception.

Contrary to previous practice, each high school student in grades 9 through 11 had the same English teacher throughout the entire year. Grammar, vocabulary and spelling, composition and speech, and literature, which had been studied under separate teachers, were all covered within the same classroom. In that manner, the students were able to better understand the relationships among these areas.

Senior English was offered once again, and junior high students completed a two-semester literature class in addition to English.

Mrs. Brummitt proves to Diane Rzepka that poor eye contact is distracting to the audience.

Mr. Encinosa clarifies a point for his Spanish class.

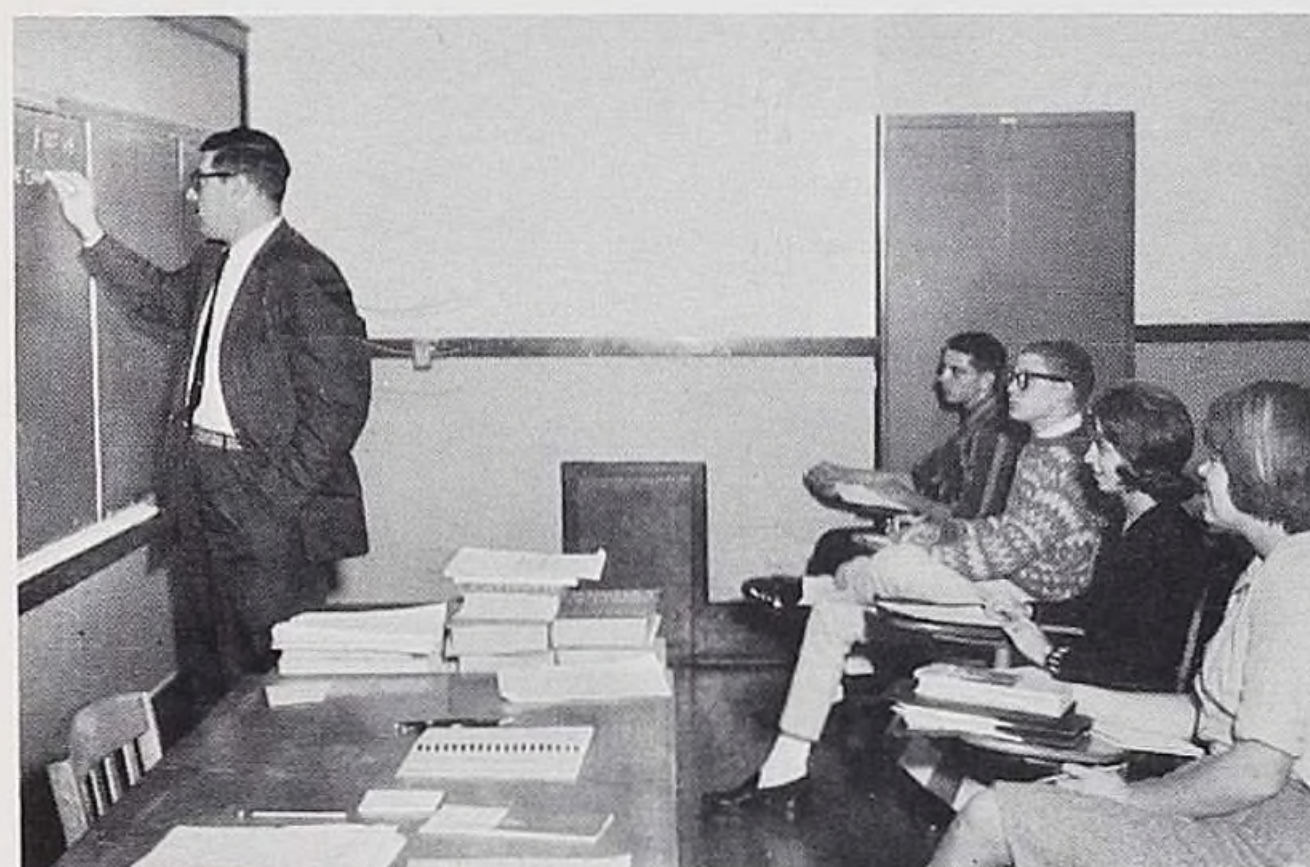

Foreign Language Study Bridges Gap Between Nations.

Because of the study of Spanish and French, more and more countries were able to communicate without problems. Such was the case with Mr. Escipion Encinosa, a native of Cuba, who taught Spanish at New Carlisle.

Pamphlets and records, also used to aid students, were designed to give them a better understanding in word usage and vocabulary.

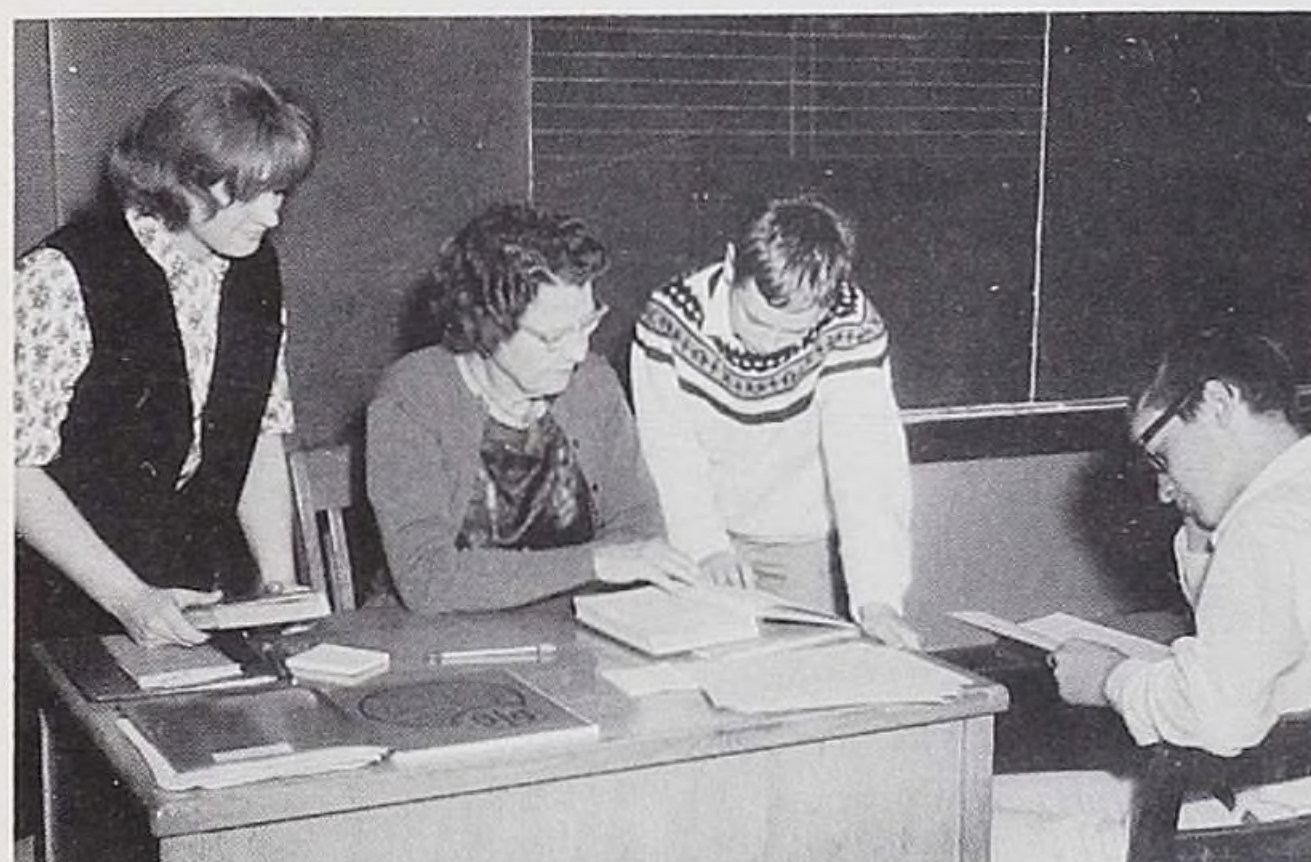

Though French was offered only for first year students, many were willing to tackle the difficult language. Through an interest and Mr. Dimitri Gloss' typically French accent the students learned the customs of the people while learning the language.

Latin, another popular language, was enjoyed by the two first year classes and the second year students. To give a better understanding of English through Latin vocabulary, verb conjugation, and sentence structure was the assignment of Mrs. Inez Bechtal.

Mr. Gloss gives the French class pointers on ordering in a French restaurant.

Mrs. Bechtel convinces three of her Latin students that Latin isn't as impossible as it may appear.

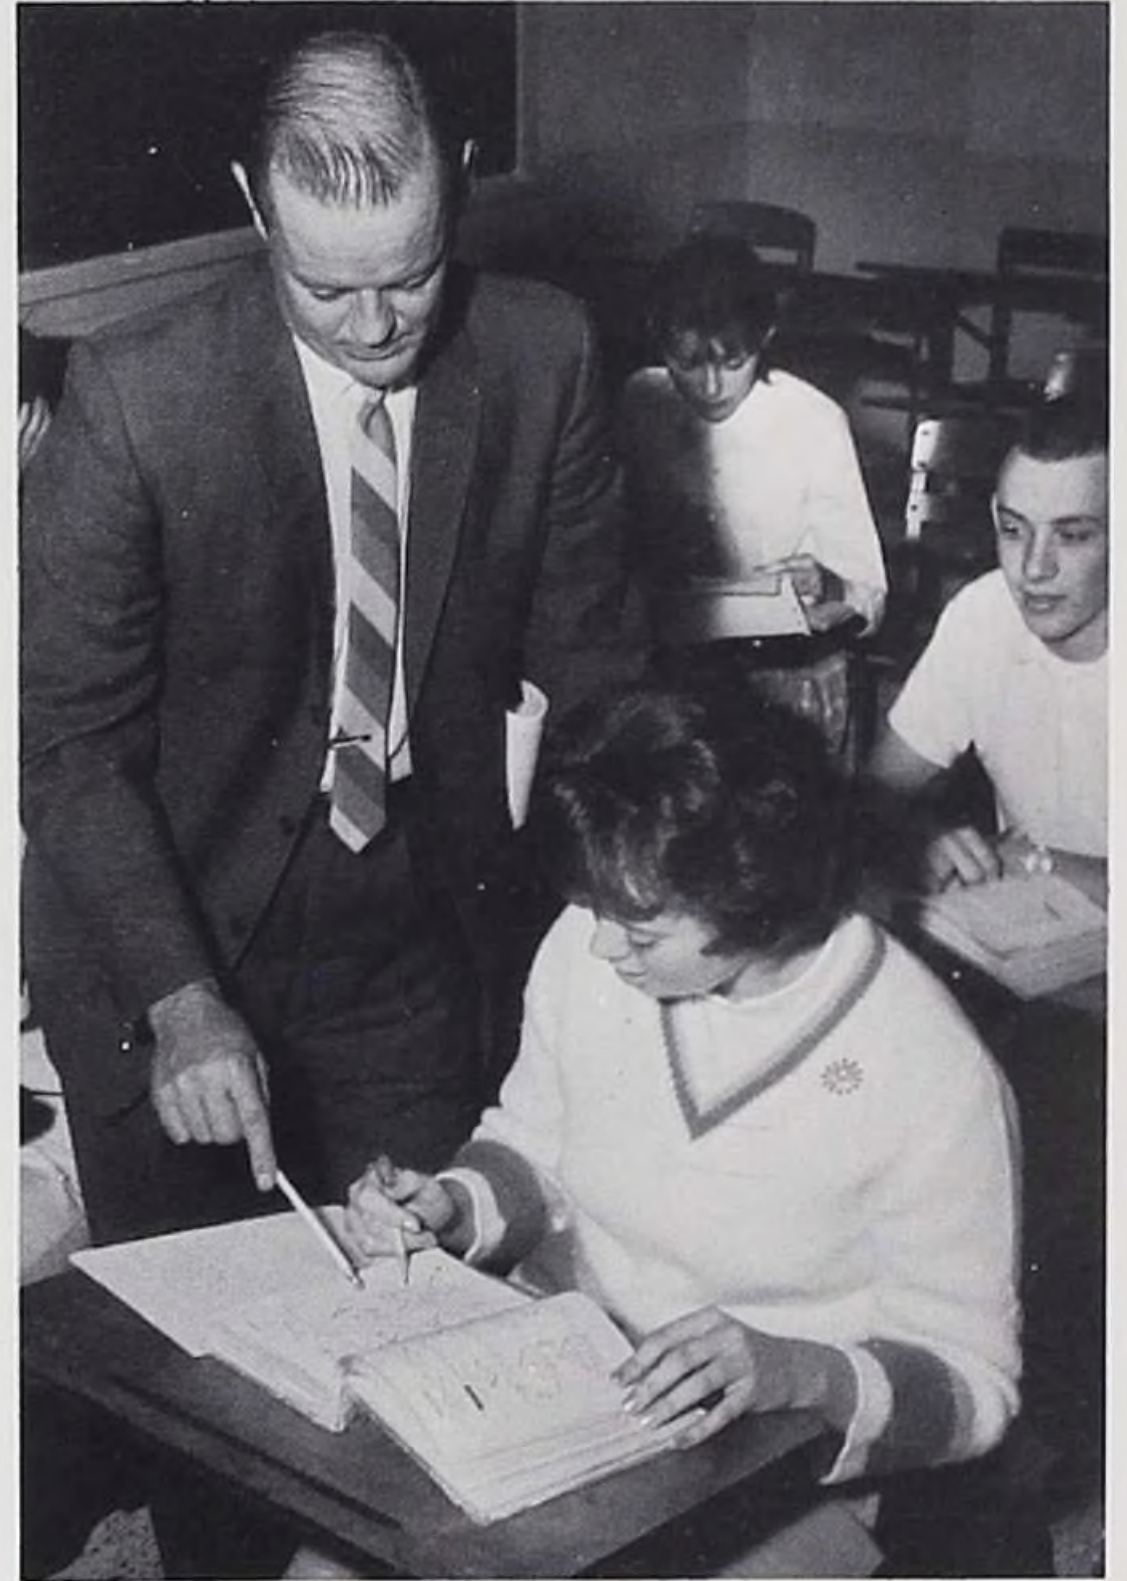

Mr. Noel helps a puzzled plane geometry student, Henrietta Dzialak.

Mathematics Provided New Challenges.

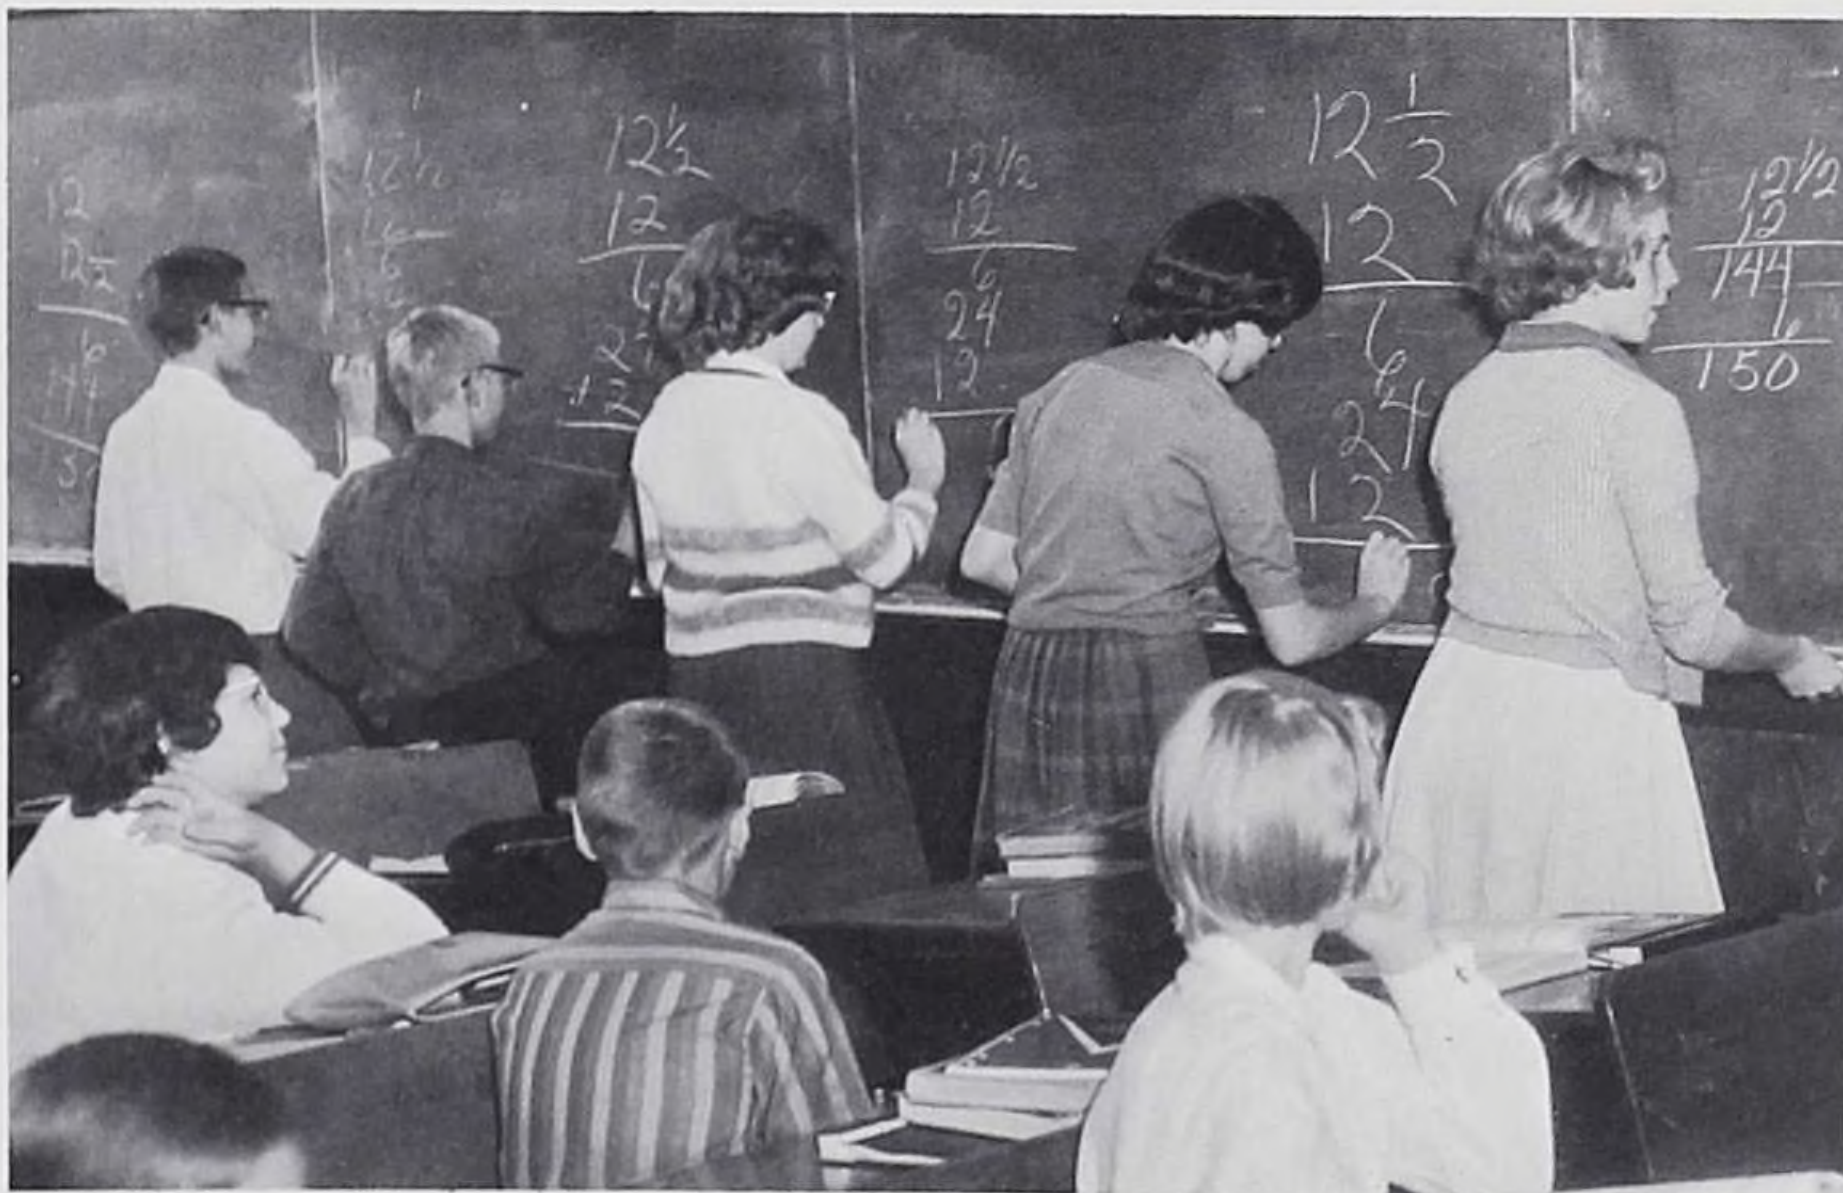

Challenging careers await the student with a strong mathematical background. New Carlisle High School realizes not only this important fact, but also that the study of mathematics develops a sound and logical reasoning power within the student. For this reason it is stressed as one of the largest departments in New Carlisle's curriculum.

Courses offered this year included high school math, taught by Mr. Loyal Marker; algebra I, taught by Mrs. Ruth Crouch and Mr. Robert Noel; advanced algebra, taught by Mrs. Ruth Crouch; plane geometry, taught by Messrs. Robert Noel and Darle Pfeiffer; trigonometry and advanced math, both taught by Mr. Darle Pfeiffer.

With a thorough knowledge and understanding of the basic fundamentals of numbers and their use in the world, the importance of mathematics can be fully realized.

Mrs. Crouch has the complete attention of her first year algebra class.

Junior high math students drill at board to increase speed and accuracy.

New Interests Created Through Science Study

Pat is apprehensive at the prospect of studying these specimens.

Eighth graders, under the direction of Mr. Fred Robinson, studied general science, a course designed to give all students a simplex introduction to science.

Mr. Jack Calhoun's biology classes increased their knowledge of life by tracing it from the one-cell animal to man.

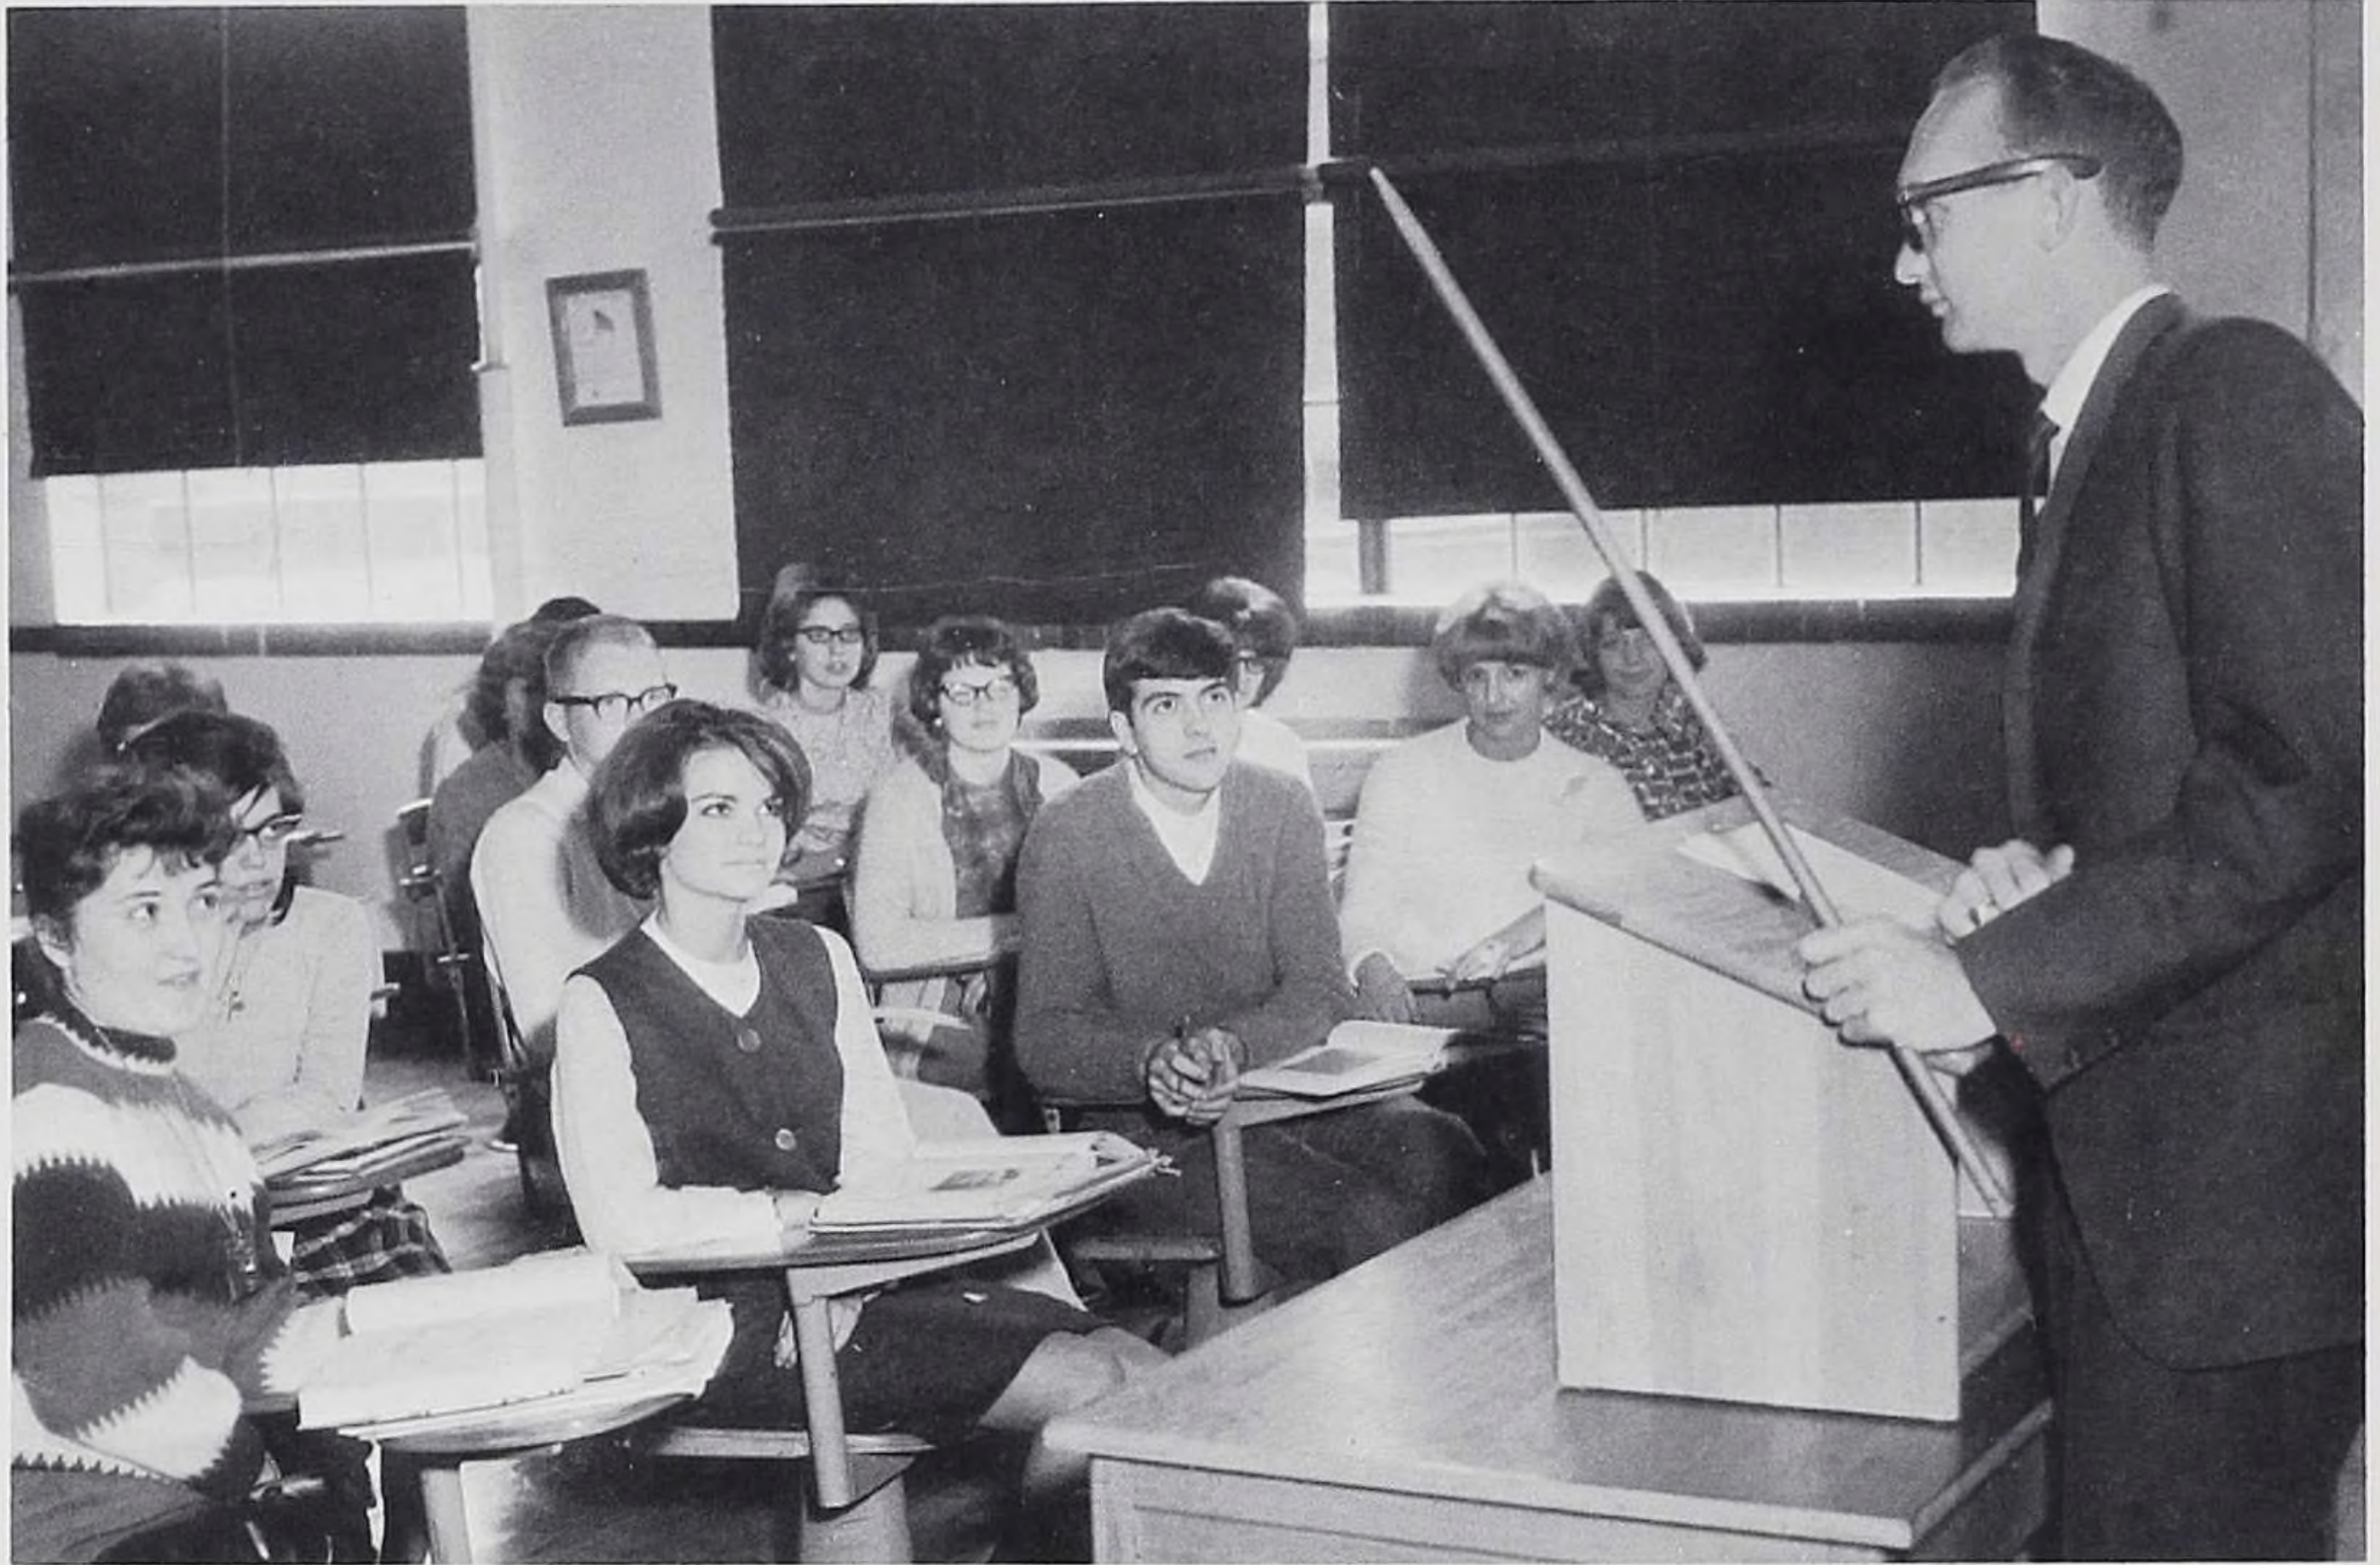

The two elective science courses, chemistry and physics, had two-hour class periods which provided time for both lectures and laboratory work.

Chemistry students of Mr. James Woolsey studied the composition of materials and the changes that they undergo.

Physics students, under Mr. Darle Pfeiffer, conducted experiments in areas including centrifugal force and the comparison of torques.

With Hugh Tipton and Dennis Scales helping, Mr. Woolsey demonstrates thermite reaction.

Mr. Paul Weaver wields the symbol of authority, the rod, as he lectures his psychology class on the problems of young people today.

Study of Old and New Leads to Future Understanding

Mr. LeRoy Stutsman helps Cheryl Deal, one of his class secretaries, grade papers.

A large number of courses offered at NCHS during the year came under the department of social studies.

Required of graduating seniors were civics and world geography, taught by Mr. LeRoy Stutsman. Here, students learned aspects of federal government in detail and how the countries of the world affect, singularly and as a whole, the economics of the world.

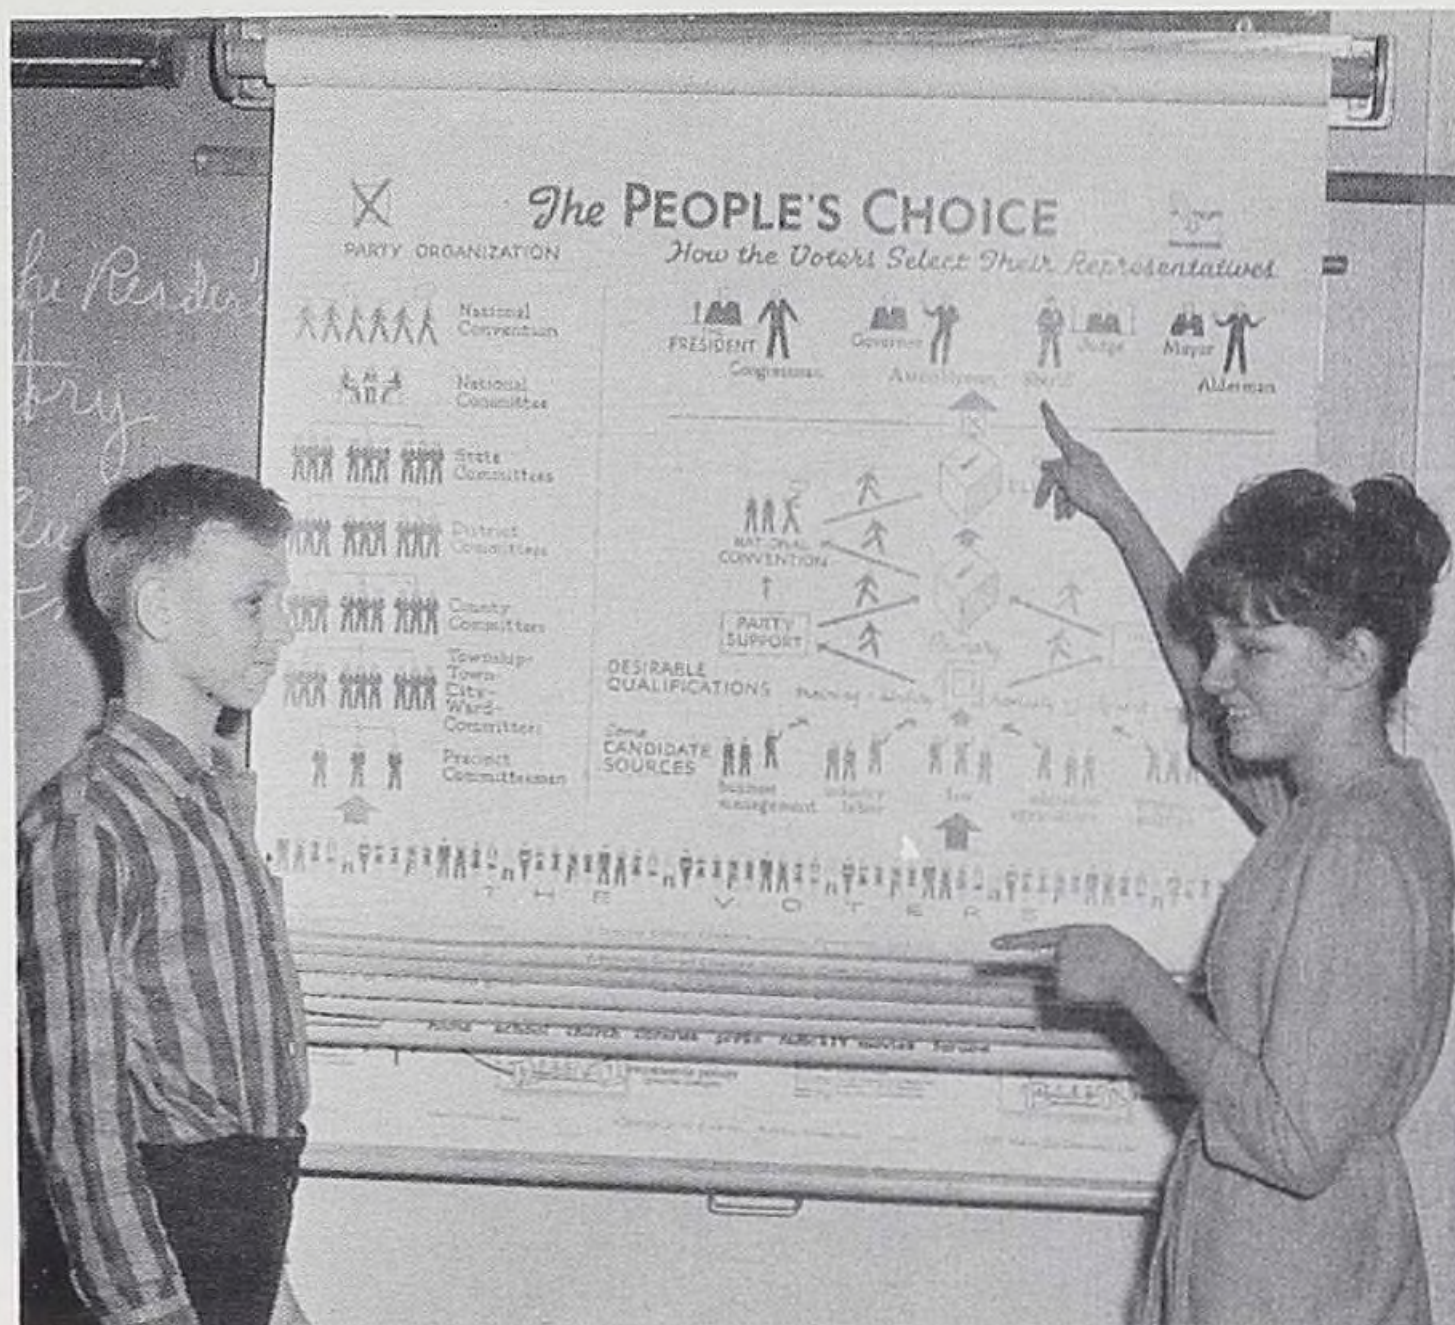

Sociology and psychology, taught by Mr. Paul Weaver, were also among the courses that seniors may have taken. Discussion of present emotional problems provided a valuable insight into the student's life.

Becky points out the election procedure to Nick in the freshman civics class.

Seventh graders began their education in the social studies field with history and geography taught by Mr. John Hans. The American heritage was an integral part of the eighth grade history under Mr. Weaver.

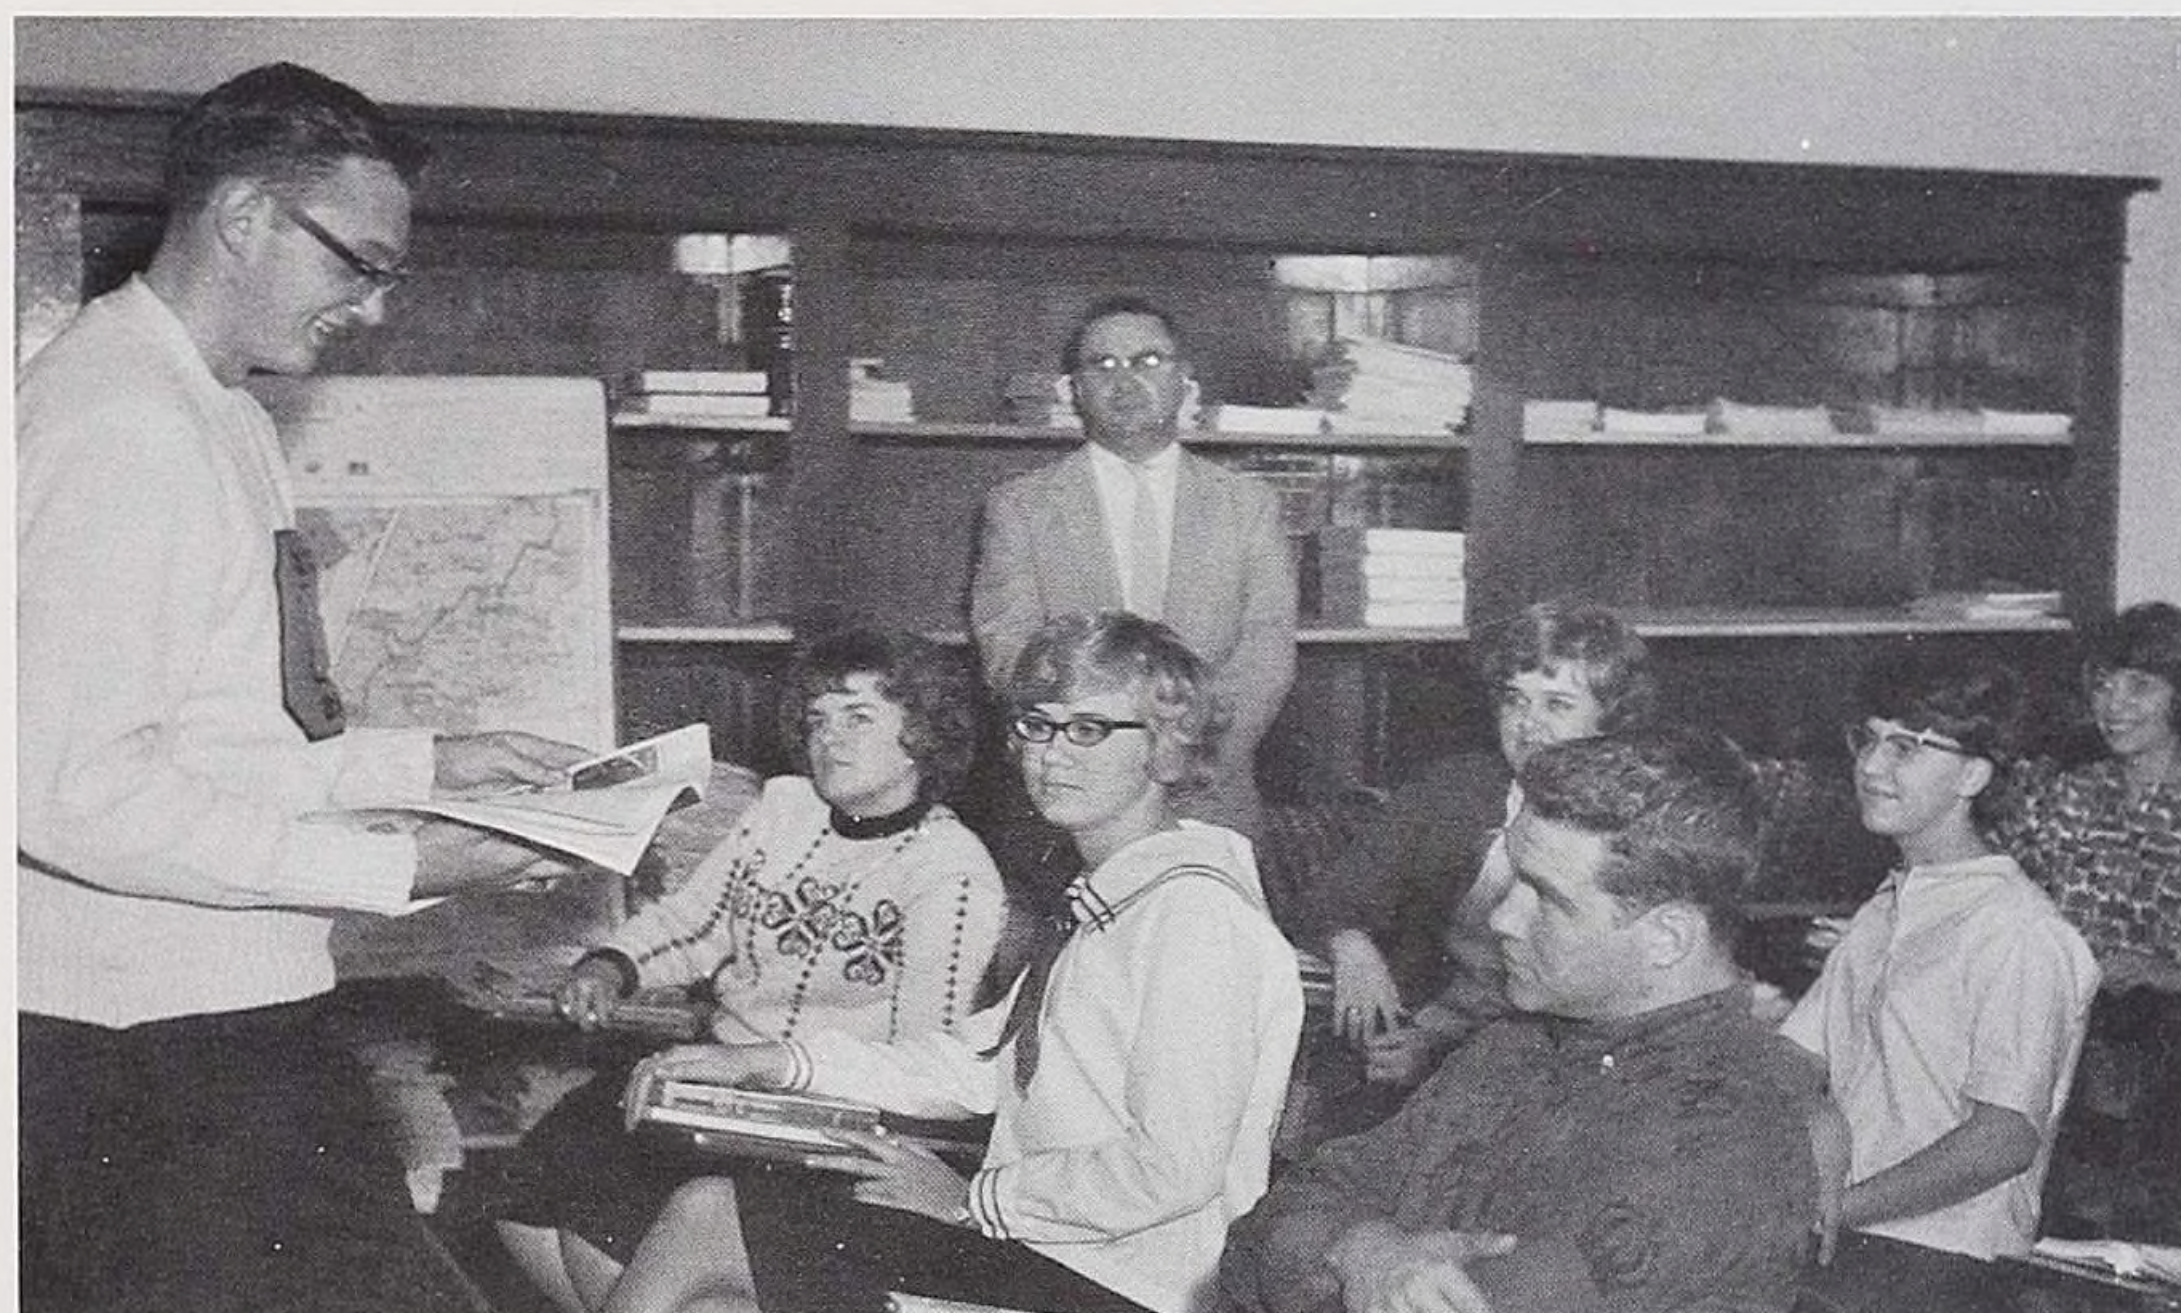

New to the curriculum this year was a course in economics, taught by Mr. Blaine Gamble. Juniors or seniors were eligible to take this course where the laws of economics were discussed.

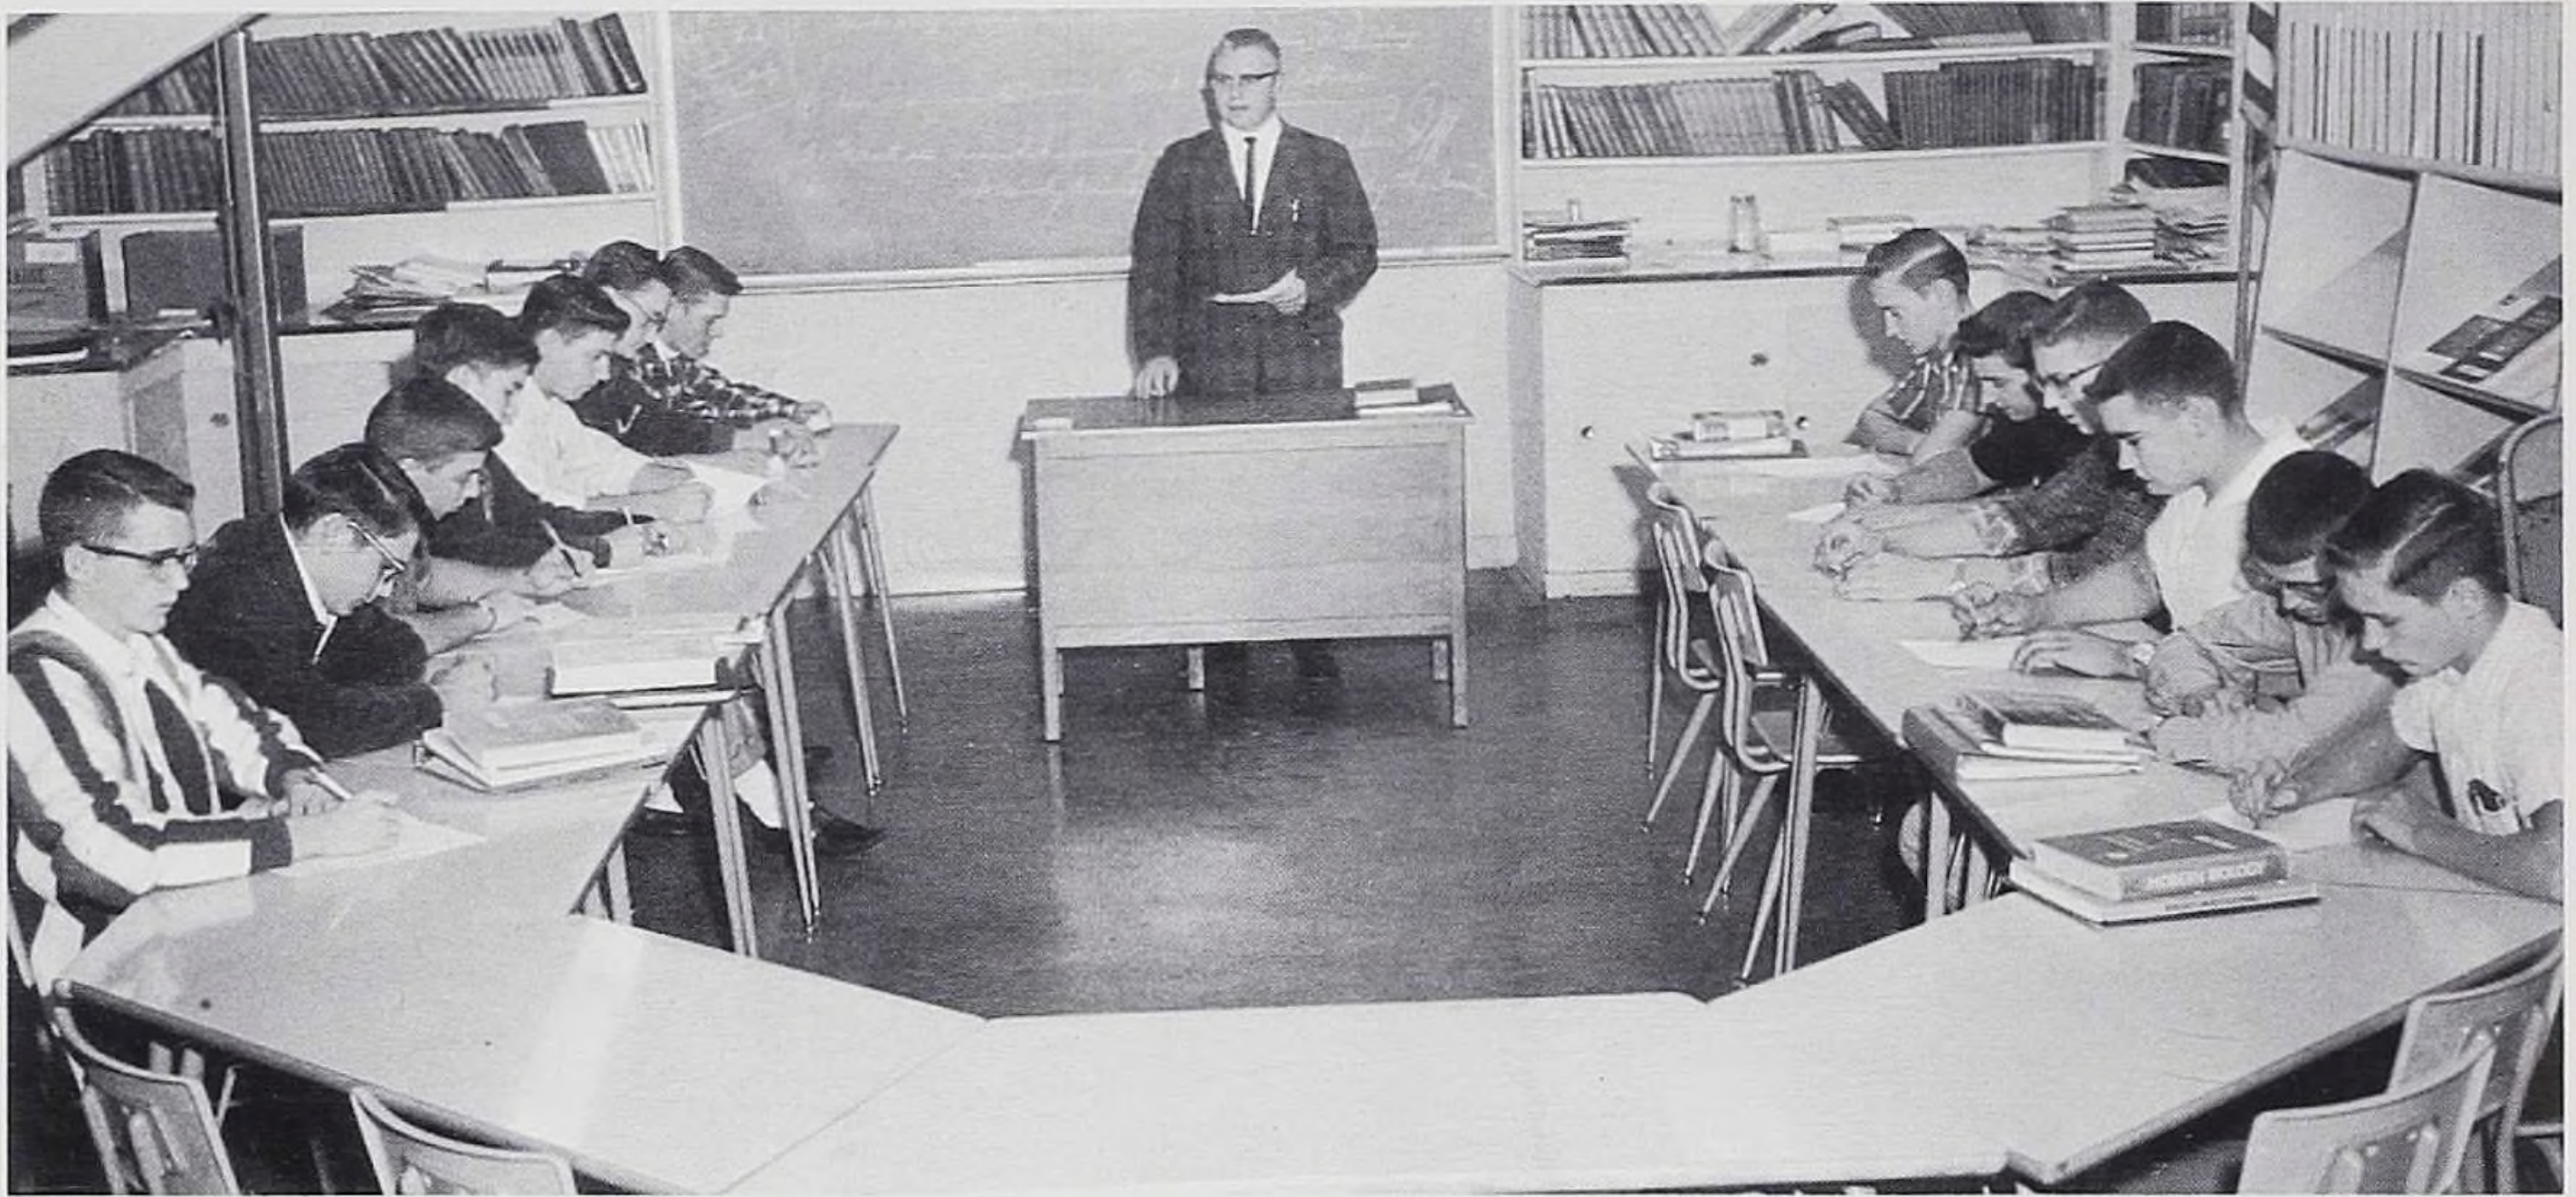

Juniors also took world history, also taught by Mr. Blaine Gamble, while sophomores usually enrolled in world history. Debates and discussions of the pros and cons of selected historical happenings provided classes with facts so that they might have a working knowledge of past occurrences to apply to present events.

Mr. Gamble discusses an important issue with his U.S. history students.

Dale Borders seems to have found some amusing facts to reveal to Mr. Gamble's economics class.

Mr. Asche taught classes ranging in age levels from thirteen to nineteen, but the students all had the same interest level, agriculture!

Ag Department Ranked High in State

The New Carlisle vocational agriculture students studied the techniques and science of agricultural production and received training in marketing and other phases of farm management. Soil conservation and improvement were also studied.

Considerable emphasis was given to farm mechanics training, involving the selection, care, maintenance, and operation of modern farm machinery.

Instruction also was provided in the construction and maintenance of farm buildings, fences, and other equipment.

Mr. Wayne Asche frequently took his agricultural students on field trips to neighboring farms where they observed good practices of farming, to agricultural experiment stations where they saw the results of new methods, and to other places where they gained knowledge through observation.

As a part of agricultural courses, students learned how to weld, a necessity in farm machinery repair.

Senior girls enrolled in home economics studied personal adjustment, marriage, and family living.

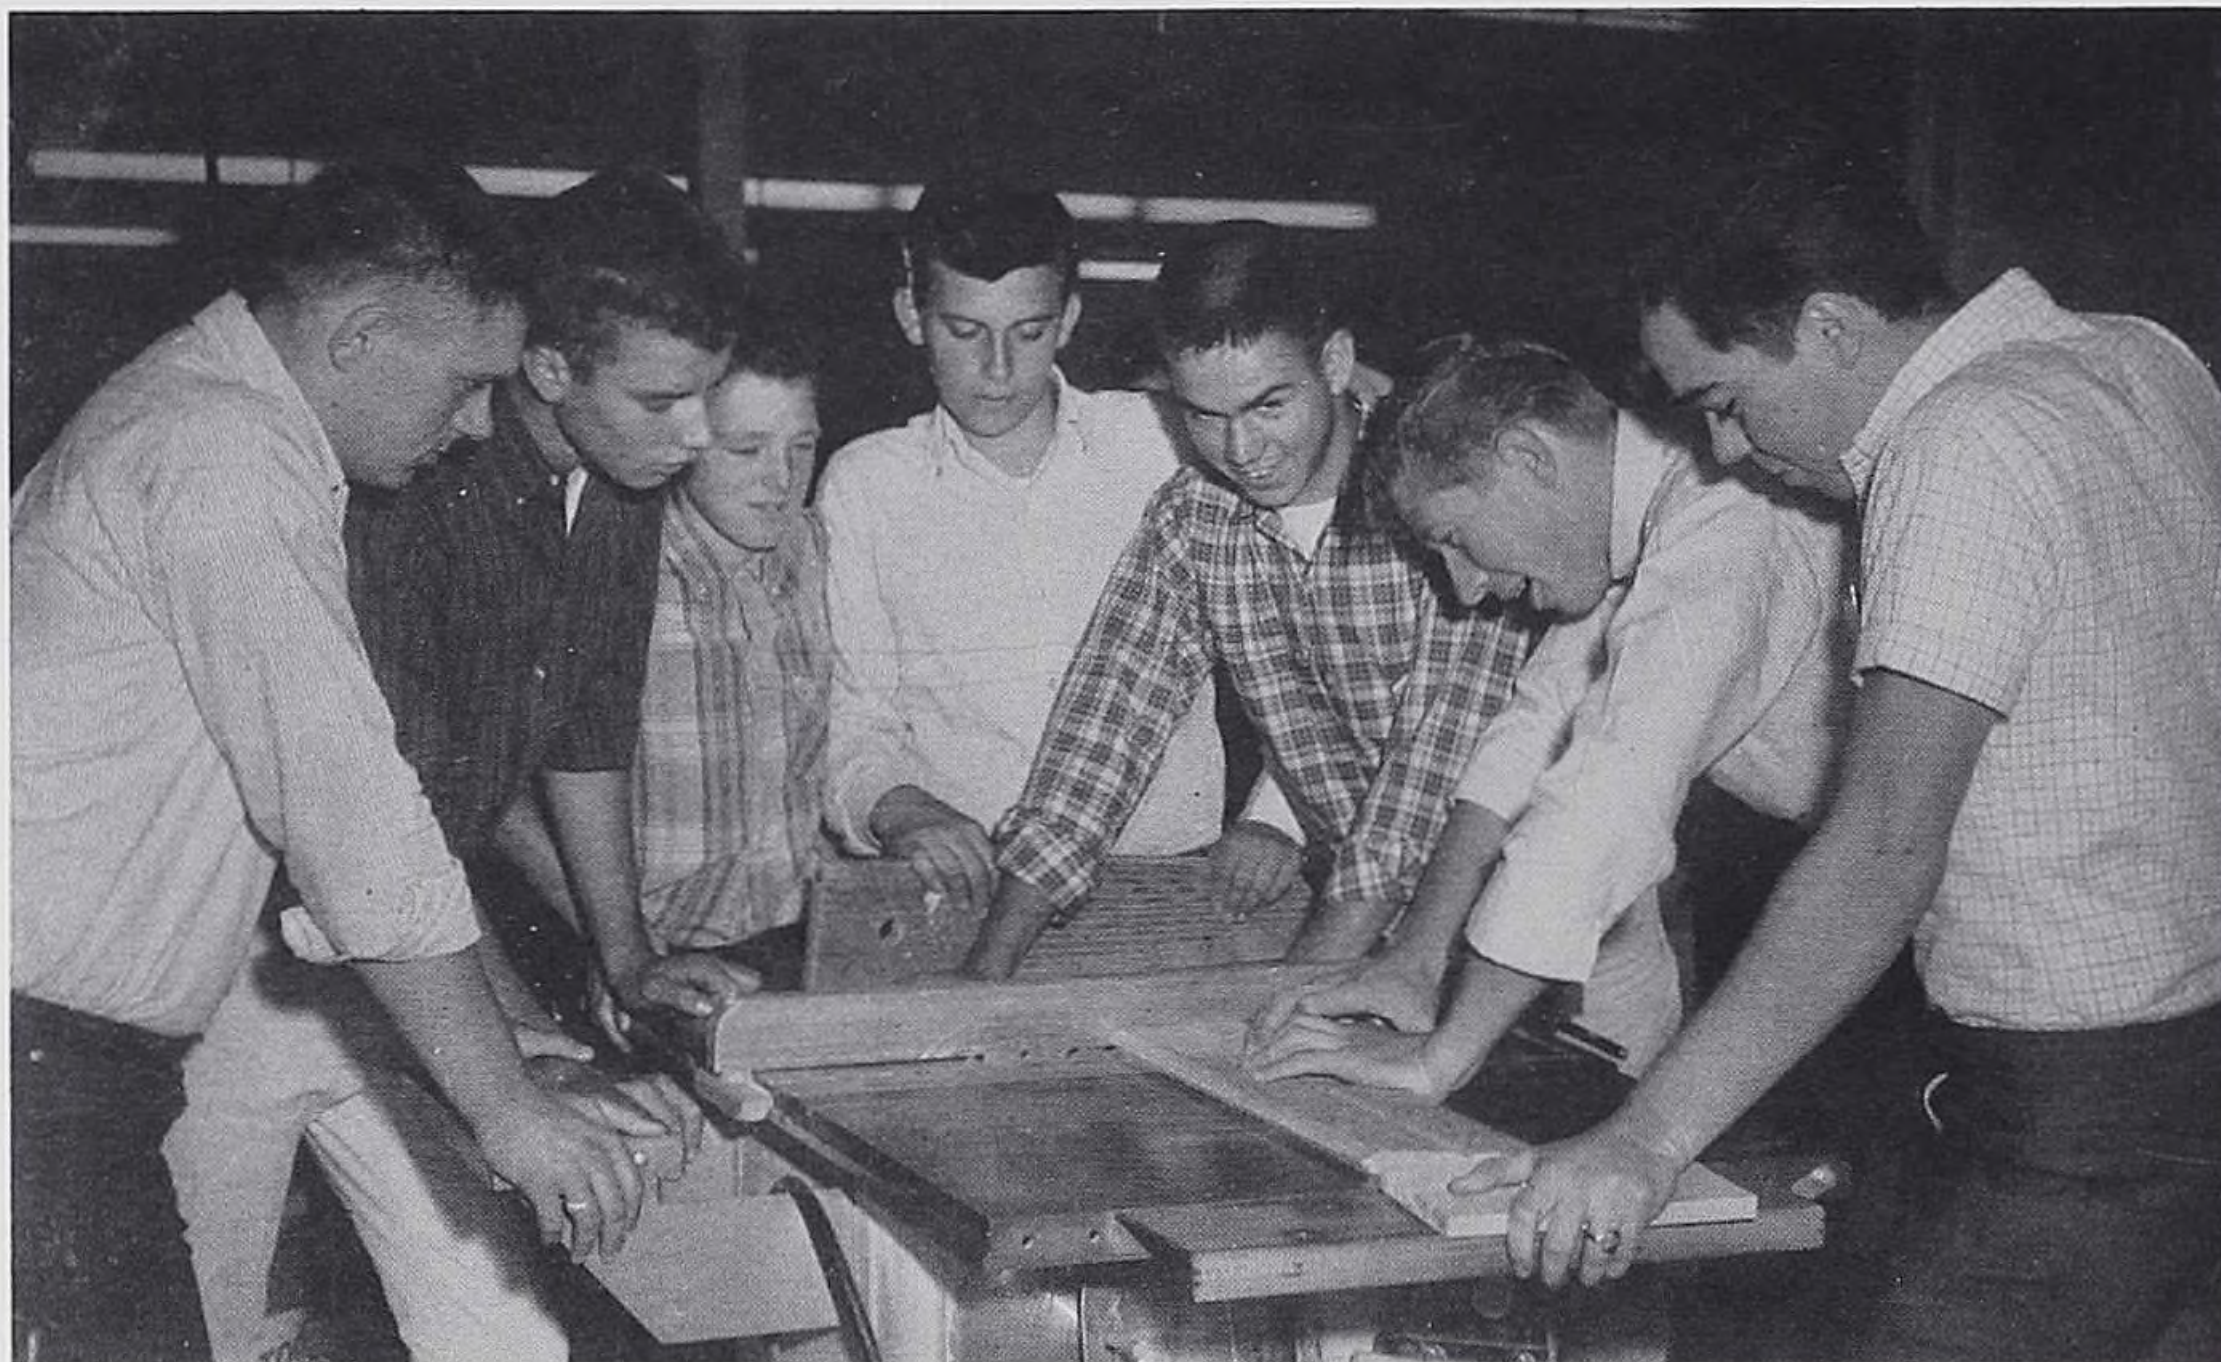

Family Living Stressed As Part of Home Economics Courses.

Mrs. Patricia Lynch taught the Freshmen the preparation of foods and the needs of nutrition. The Sophomore class learned the fundamentals of home nursing. The Juniors were taught interior decorating and the preparation of foreign foods. The Senior class studied family relations.

Mrs. Margaret Ekstrom had four units of dressmaking available to the students. This varied according to the year of Home Ec. that the girl took. This helped the girls to become a better seamstress and to have a complete wardrobe for less money.

Mrs. Ekstrom examines the stitching on Joyce Gorney's project as the class watches.

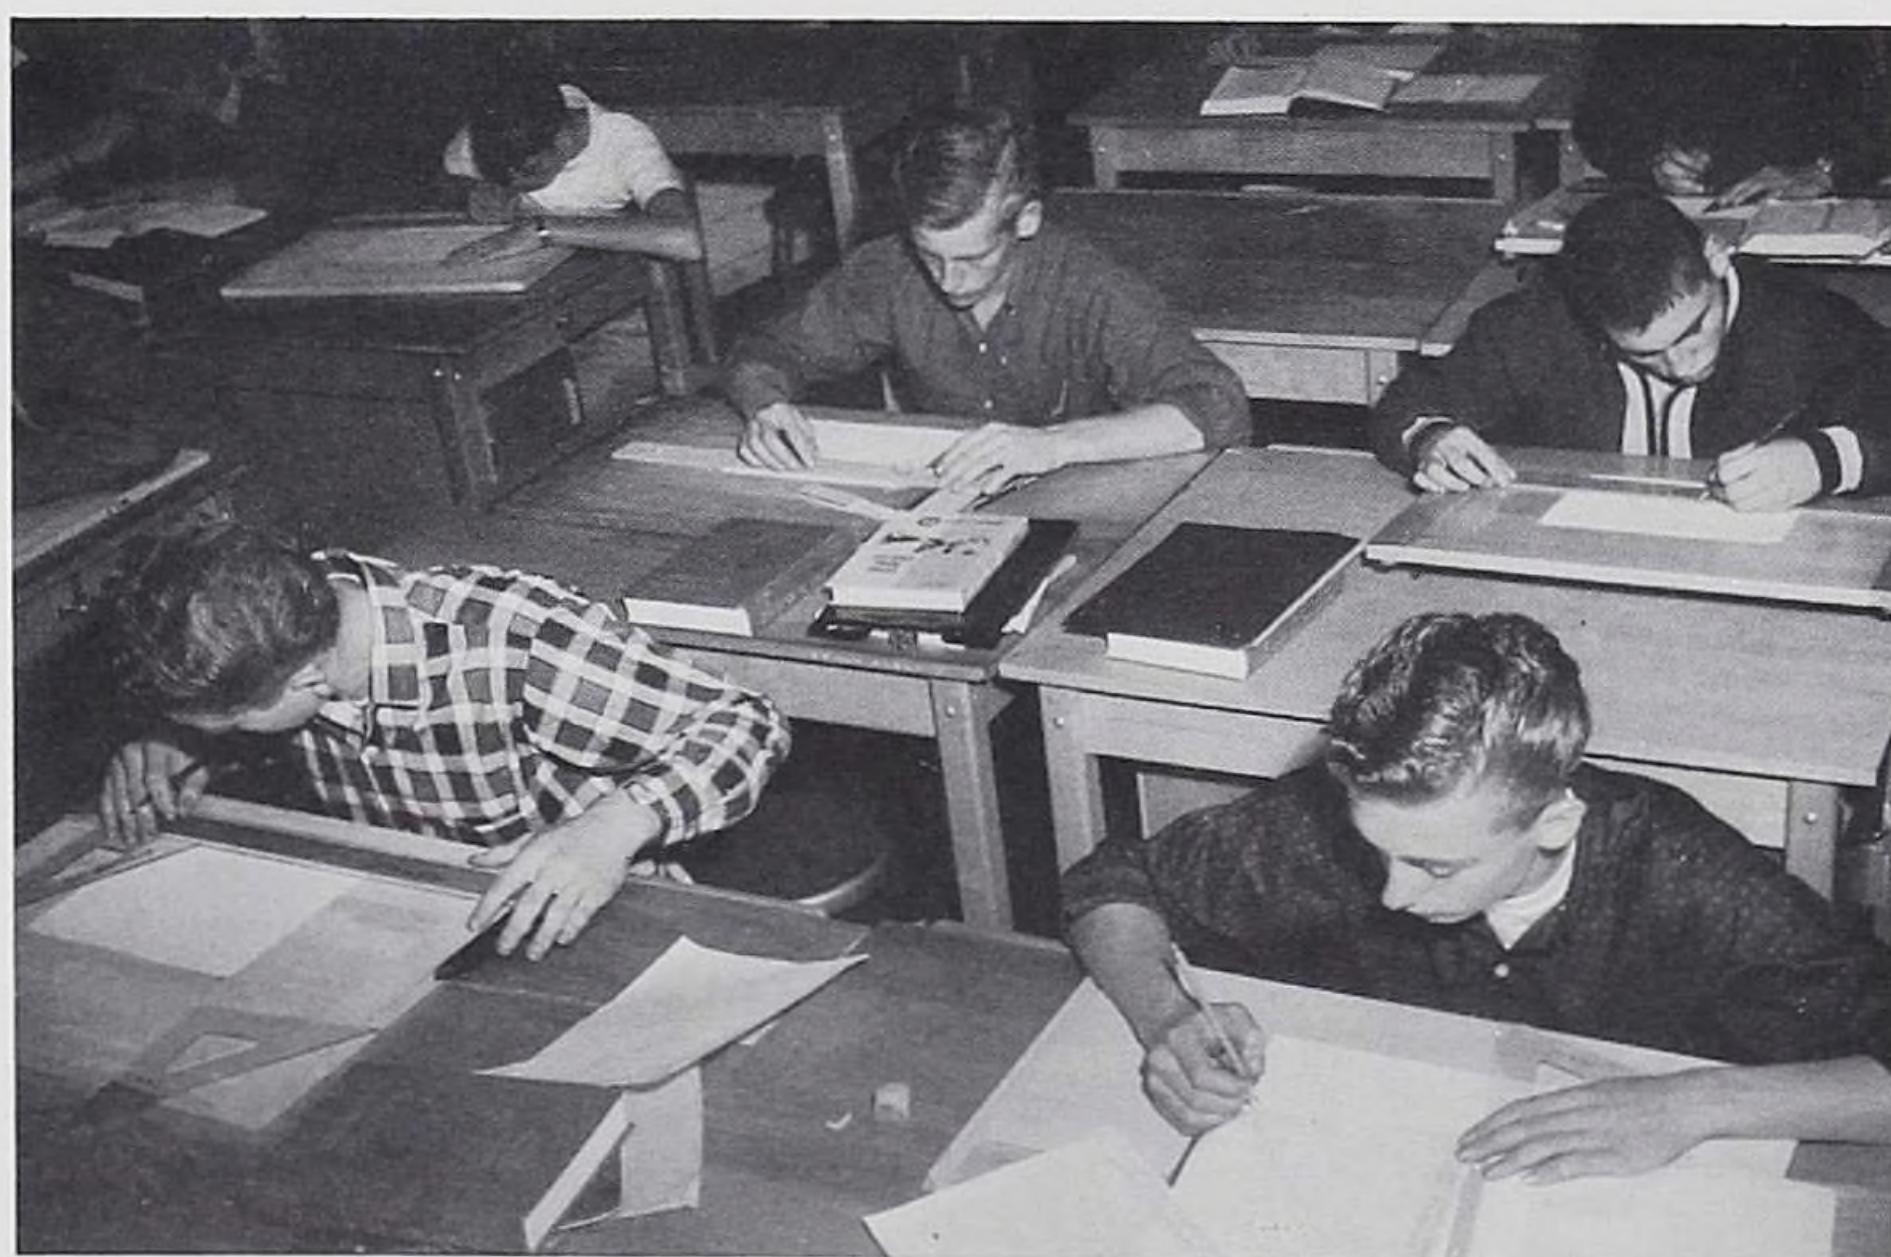

Mr. Don Kane led students in the art of woodworking and metalworking. The shop classes met in the newly completed shop of the school.

Two Mechanical Arts Courses Are Offered.

Mechanical drawing and shop are the two industrial arts courses offered at New Carlisle. Graphs and scales were the focal points for the first-year classes in mechanical drawing. The advanced classes concentrated on more difficult graphs. Each student was required to fill a notebook with original house plans.

Lamps, tie racks, tables, and book shelves are some of the articles that were made in shop classes. Many of the students became skilled in the use of special woodworking and metalworking tools.

This mechanical drawing class seems to be engrossed in the lesson that their teacher, Mr. Harry Tolmen, assigned.

As a class project, the art classes prepared paper mache masks for their "Tavern of Terror" at the annual Halloween Festival.

Group Projects Were Important in Fine Arts.

New Carlisle High School offered three different courses in the Fine Arts field. Those offered were Art, Chorus, and Band.

This year's art classes was taught by a new teacher, Mr. Roger Beehler. Under his leadership, the Art classes provided the school with the necessary scenery for the musical and school plays.

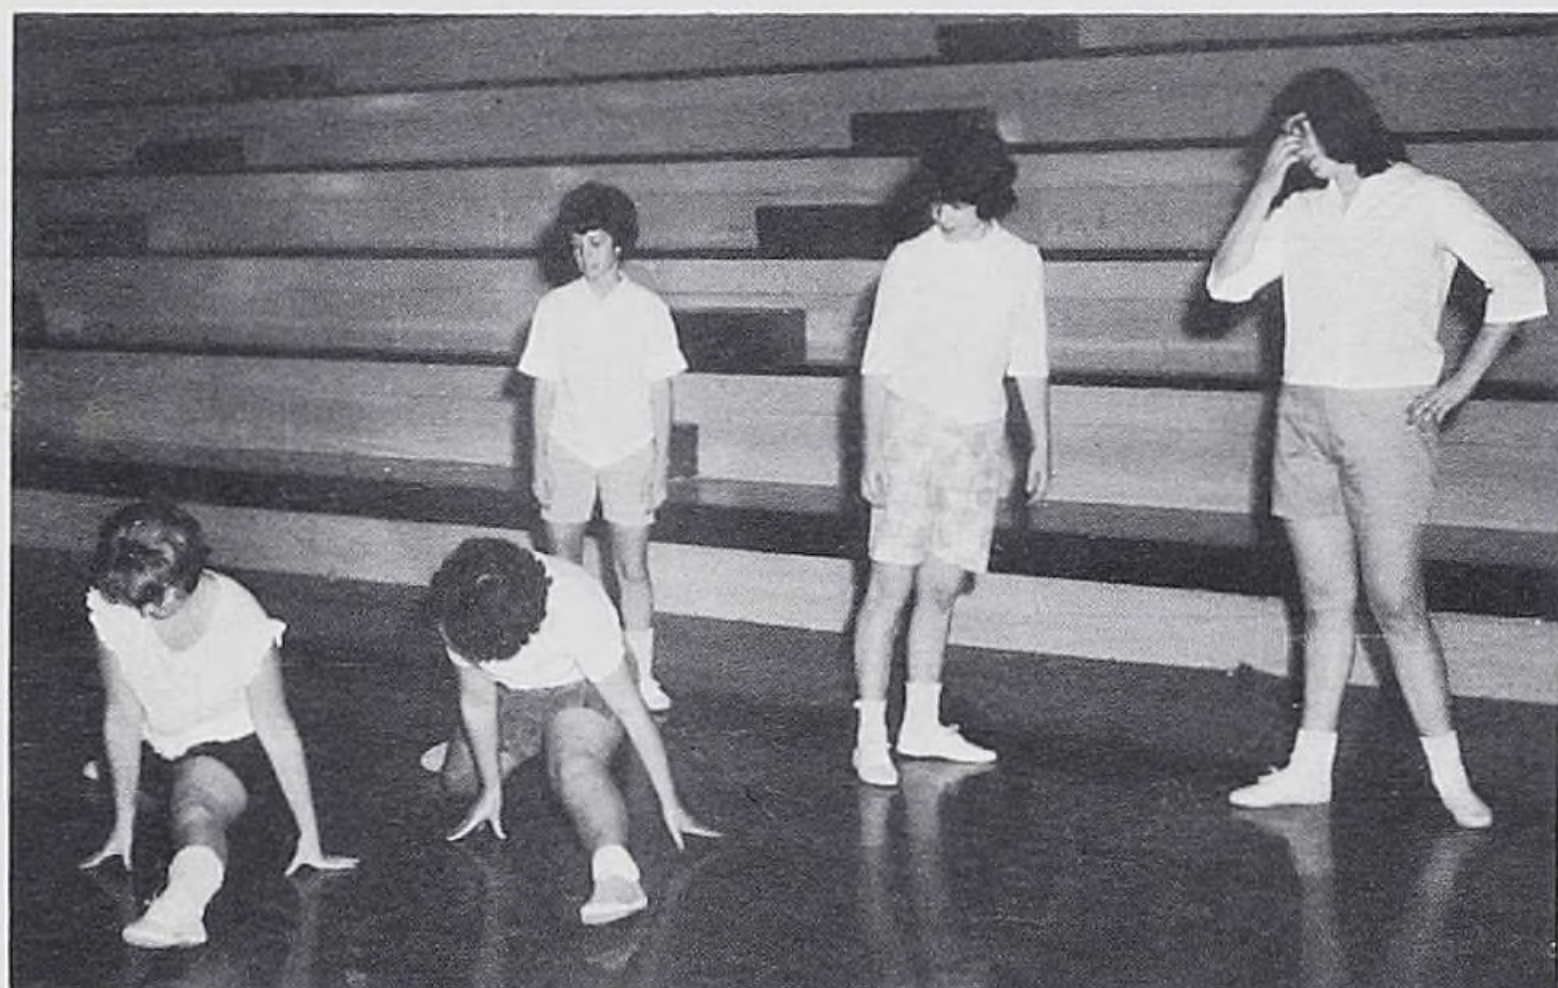

The music department was expanded this year by the addition of the Swing Choir. Along with the regular choir, they provided the school assemblies and community with all types of music. Both choirs were under the direction of Miss Susan Hunsberger.

The Band, under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Johns, also gave the school assemblies, football and basketball games, and community activities the type of music desired. The Band displayed its fine musical talent by winning awards in both marching and concert band.

Miss Hunsberger directs the high school choir during one of their class hours.

There seem to be mixed emotions as Jan Beach and Bonnie Shoue do the splits.

This simply goes to prove that one must keep "on the ball" in gym class.

Sound Bodies Are Equally Important As Sound Minds.

Freshman students began the year with required courses in physical education. This gave the students a daily exercise period and presented them with lessons in sportsmanship, teamwork, and body conditioning. The girls participated in volleyball, basketball, archery, bowling and track, under the direction of Miss Susan Hunsberger. Football, gymnastics, and track were included in the activities in which the boys engaged. Teachers for the boys' physical education classes included Messrs. Bill Lynch, Loyal Marker, and Don Kane.

Health was a semester course required for senior boys and those senior girls who had not completed two years of home economics. Students studied both physical and mental health. Instructors were Miss Susan Hunsberger and Mr. Loyal Marker.

Mr. Marker lectures the boys' health class on physical fitness.

Last fall the Junior High School Chorus started out with only girls, but as the new year began, boys were added. This choir put on a Christmas Concert for the Haven Hubbard Home and participated in the February 28 Choral Concert.

Third hour chorus, better known as the Girls' Glee Club, is mainly a training choir. Many of its members participated in the Swing Choir and other musical groups, while the entire group performed at the Choral Concert.

The Mixed Choir has made numerous appearances throughout the past year. They provided music for the Christmas Program, Thanksgiving Service, and the JCHS Induction. On April 7, they appeared in the Lenten Service at the Presbyterian Church in South Bend.

Swing Choir Appeared on Television

A new addition to the extracurricular activities at New Carlisle was the High School Swing Choir. These twenty students spent time preparing music ranging in style from ballads to novelty tunes.

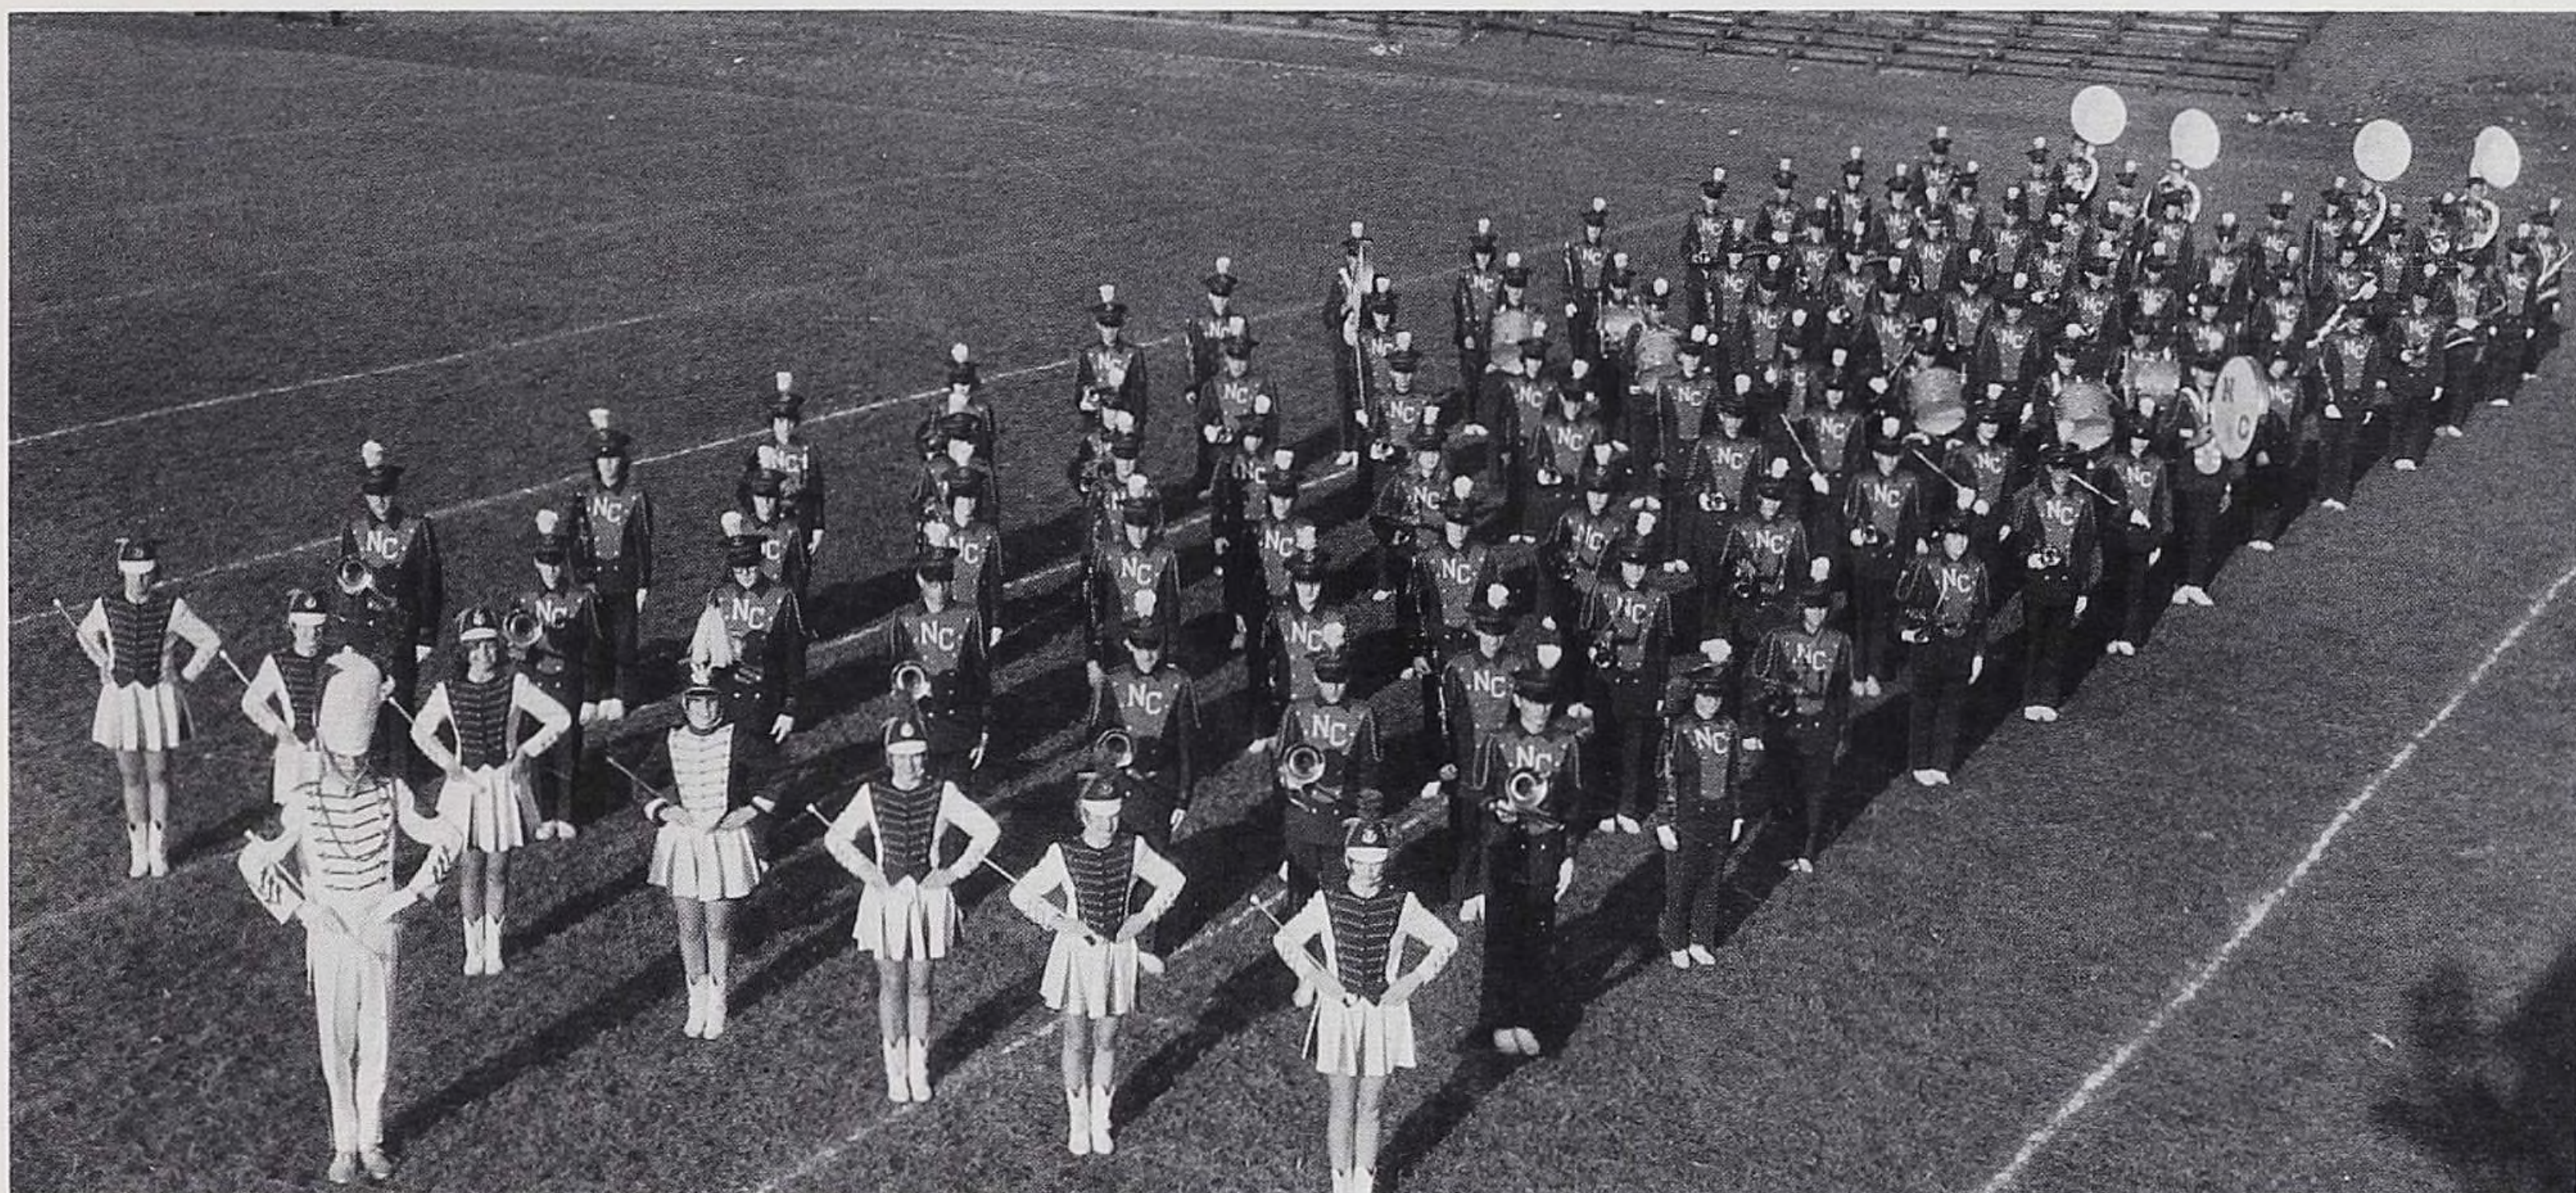

With Miss Susan Hunsberger directing, the Swing Choir presented a program for the student body. They also performed for PTA meetings and made an appearance on WSBT-TV.

Accompanied by David Shepherd on the piano and Lee Hope on the drums, the Swing Choir was featured in the choral concert presented in the spring.

Not too many smiles, but a lot of music seems to be coming from the swing choir members.

Marching Tigers Gained Recognition in All Fields of "Bandsmanship."

"This was our finest year," praised band director Mr. Kenneth Johns, and rightfully so! The NCHS band, already of statewide fame as a marching unit, rallied to gain recognition as a superb concert band, too.

Inspired by a full concert sound, resulting from more bandsmen and better instrumentation, and the continual "prodding" by Mr. Johns, the band won high honors at the State Band contest.

The band also presented its two annual public performances, the Christmas Pops Concert and the Spring Awards Concert and was applauded locally as the best all-around band in years.

To raise funds for supporting the active organization, the members sponsored an annual band candy sale and under the supervision of the Music Boosters, the Jonah fish fry.

Providing music for various banquets and dances was one of the duties of the New Carlisle Dance Band. They also performed at all of the band concerts and the Solo and Ensemble Contest, as well as adding to the school enthusiasm at pep sessions.

The members of the Junior Band anticipated the upcoming years when they could join the High School Band. They participated in the Solo and Ensemble Contest with students from all of northern Indiana.

The High School Band officers were: D. Shepherd, drum major; R. Johanson, Sgt.-at-arms; R. Bodemuller, vice-president; G. Dodd, president; P. Zielewski, secretary and treasurer.

Tigerettes Present Precision Drills for Public.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Blaine Gamble, the Tigerettes led an active year. The members participated in the Annual Music Festival in Milwaukee. The girls brought home ninth place in this national competition.

Half-time shows were prepared for football games in the autumn and for basketball games during the winter season. To celebrate their successes, the Tigerette members dined in the Old English atmosphere of Win Shuler's Restaurant. They feasted on boneless breast of chicken on a bed of wild rice and sampled Creme de' Menthe sherbert for dessert. Each member was presented a corsage with a small silver boot as a remembrance of the evening.

Toward the end of the school year, the Tigerettes held their annual talent show. The evening included skits, pantomines, and musical selections presented for the pleasure of the public.

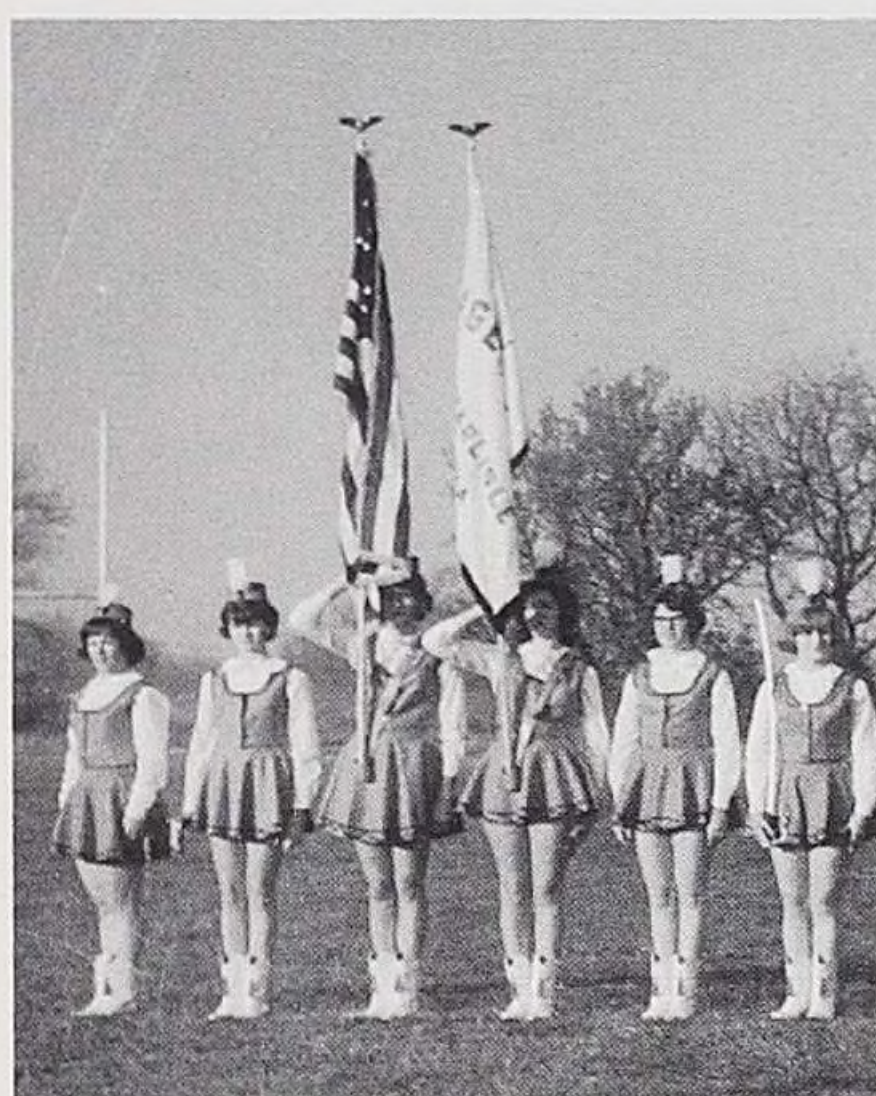

Leading the group of forty girls this year was Barbara Kolacz. As a senior member of the Tigerettes, she held the honor of being head majorette and drill leader of the unit.

Mr. Blaine Gamble worked with the Tigerettes to develop their marching skills on precision maneuvers.

Sr. G.A.A. Played Intramural Sports.

The Senior G.A.A. officers seem to be enjoying a game of tennis during one of their meetings.

Senior Girls' Athletic Association participated in many inter-school activities. Competitive basketball headed the list with the girls' team pitting itself against other schools.

This year, a special Sports Day was held on which the G.A.A. members participated in basketball and volleyball games. The annual Awards Banquet was held to honor those girls making outstanding achievements during the year.

This year's officers were: Gayle Wilson, president; Joan Schrader, vice-president; Nanci Nicodemus, secretary; Sally Mack, treasurer; Deana Hughes, point chairman; and Miss Susan Hunsberger, sponsor.

Jr. G.A.A. girls, including 7th graders through freshmen, filled the gym each Thursday night from 6:00 to 7:30. Their goal was developing sportsmanship, skill, and fitness through various activities including basketball, volleyball, archery, badminton, and softball.

A points program the same as that initiated by the Sr. G.A.A. was followed by the group.

By participating in more activities, a member was able to earn more points and report them to Diane Gilpin, point chairman, to be recorded. Other officers, under the guidance of Miss Susan Hunsberger, included: Ila Wiltfong, president; Brenda Cenkush, vice-president; Linda Tolmen, secretary; and Jackie Martz, treasurer.

Helping to "create, maintain, and extend" Christian character were the officers: Fred Scott, president; Dick Nelson, vice-president; Dale Glon, secretary; Bob Bodemuller, treasurer; and Tim Moffitt, chaplain.

In the objective of aiding the school and community, Hi-Y parked cars at the football games, maintained the pencil machines in the school, sponsored a coat check at basketball games, provided for a Thanksgiving program, and purchased a new cover for the football scoreboard.

Not designed for all work and no recreation, the club members went swimming once a month during the winter.

Party invitations were extended to FHA and FFA clubs of neighboring schools. A hair-styling demonstration, panel discussions, a stay-in-school project, and a style show and tea for mothers were special features of meetings.

"Leadership through education" was the year's theme. Under it, many new phases of homemaking were introduced, and members were made aware of the fact that education is essential to good performance in any career.

Members of the 64-65 Science Club worked hard to make the year the most successful in the organization's history. Profits from the pumpkin sale, car wash, cake raffle, and dance sponsored by the group financed the club's highlighting event of the year. This was a three-day field trip throughout Southern Indiana.

In hopes of stimulating more interest in science among the student body, the club sponsored a science fair. All NCHS students were invited to participate, and every Science Club member presented his project as one of the club's membership requirements.

The officers for the year were: Brian Hildebrand, president; Marsha Hansen, vice-president; Martha Lowman, secretary; John Levindofske, treasurer; Charles Ryder, parliamentarian; and Larry Sabinas, historian. The sponsor was Mr. James Woolsey.

Olive Branch Staff Has Year of Preparation

The 1965 Olive Branch did not just happen. It took months of work and preparation. Work began last summer with the ad campaign. Then came school, and with it the taking of pictures, assignment of copy, and planning of the entire book.

The staff was headed this year by Gerry Dodd, editor, with Neal Downey, assistant editor, Bob Bodemuller, associate editor, and Sally Mack, business manager. Mr. Max Haag sponsored the group and its projects.

The Olive Branch staff, in order to raise money for the production costs, sponsored the Sweetheart Swirl in February. Students enjoyed the music of a fine dance band.

The editor and his three top officers seem to be pondering some important decision.

The 1964-65 season for our Tigers proved to be one of the best yet. This year, under coaches Bill Lynch and Harry Tolmen, the team met some tough new rivals, among them Bishop Leurs of Fort Wayne and Culver Military Academy.

The junior-high team at New Carlisle promises to become an extremely potent varsity squad in a few years. This year the team racked up six victories in six games for a perfect season. This is an excellent job for any football team!

Now that the nucleus has been formed, it is hoped that the players will become more skillful with age and will end up with a perfect four-year record!

B-team games are rugged and offer nearly as many spectacular and cunning plays as are found in varsity games.

Varsity team: l. to r., T. Moffitt, J. Golden, J. Pietrzak, B. Manuszak, B. Johnson, D. Shepherd, F. Scott, D. Glon, J. Trumble, D. Bromley, KNEELING: T. Keen, Coach Roger Beehler, K. Brasseur.

Varsity Claims Another Winning Season.

Under new coach Roger Beehler, our Tigers put in a lot of work and were able to come out on top, as in the past. The team's balanced press payed off on many occasions with large, early leads and confused opponents. Seniors Fred Scott, Jeff Trumble, and Horace Brown, with much added help from their teammates, led scoring point totals this year. Pride in our players ran high this year, and this year's team has done much to promote the spirit of basketball in New Carlisle!

Trumble shoots from his favorite spot!

The boys seem in a hurry to grab the rebound.

2nd ROW: C. Bealor, T. Noel, J. Niespodziany, D. Scales, R. Van Lue, E. Laureys.

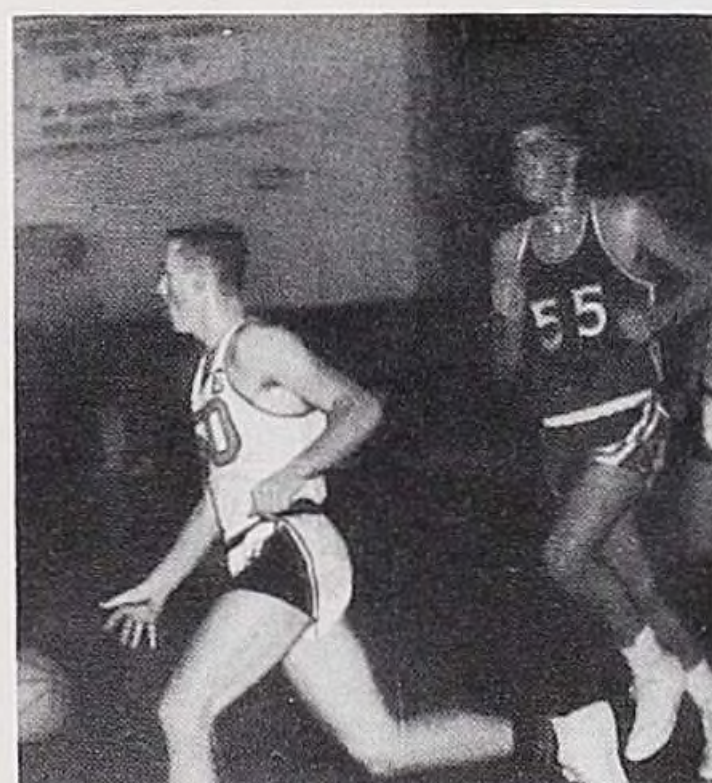

B-Team Compiles Winning Record Also

With a strong start, the B-team played well, carried the ball smoothly, and wrapped up many of its games.

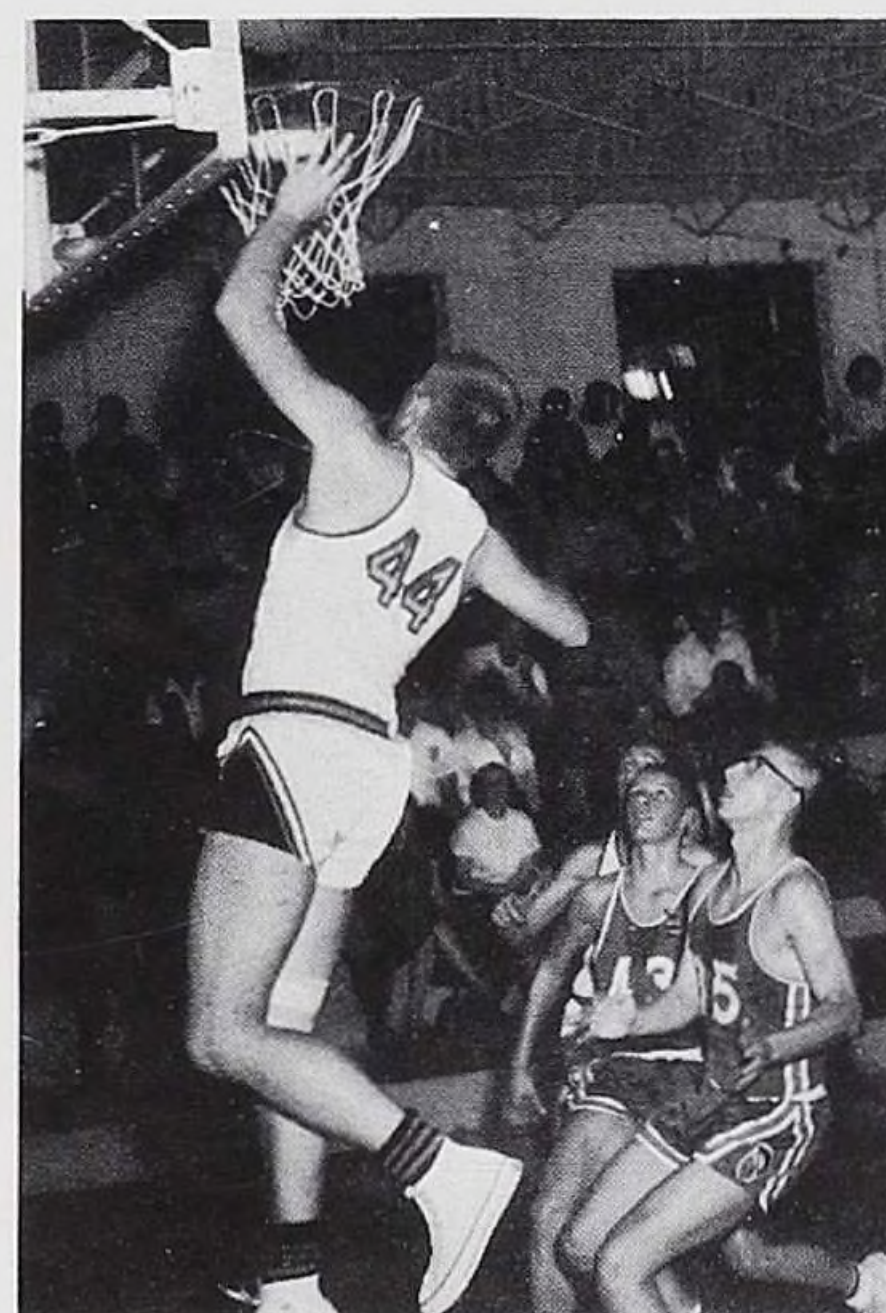

Ready and waiting for next basketball season to come, this team expects to do justice to its already fine reputation.

Ty Noel seems to have frightened his opponent!

Fred Scott moves the ball with Loren Riddles close behind.

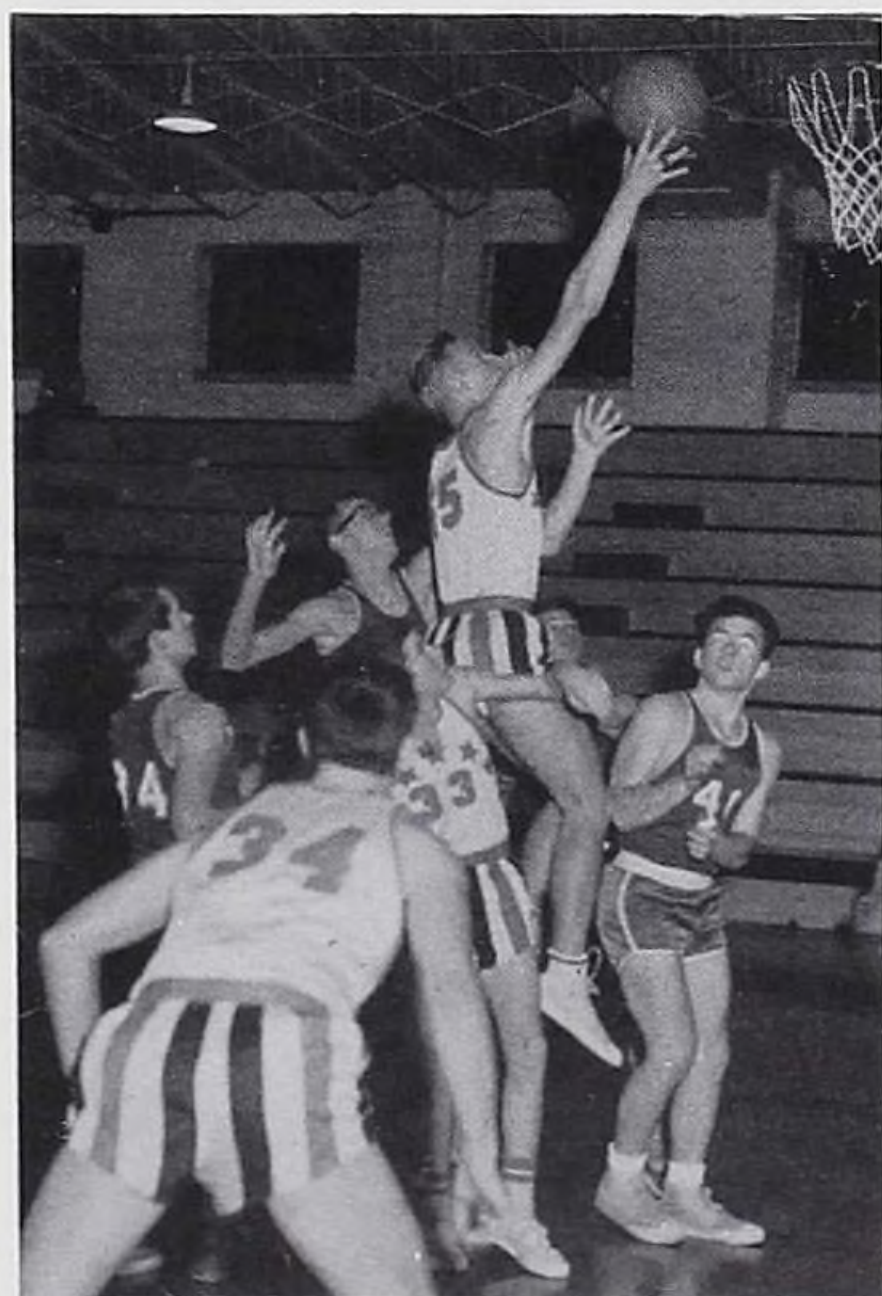

Bill Johnson drives in for the layup.

Freshmen Prepare Hard for Future Team Play

Wrobleski makes easy lay-in.

Jump ball!

Jeff just lets loose with another two pointer.

7th and 8th Teams Gain Much Experience

Gymnastic team, 1st ROW, 1 to r: Mr. Don Kane, R. Hooten, J. Lambie, D. Engel, J. Levindofske; 2nd ROW: D. Akin, B. Hildebrand, R. Johanson, C. McDonald.

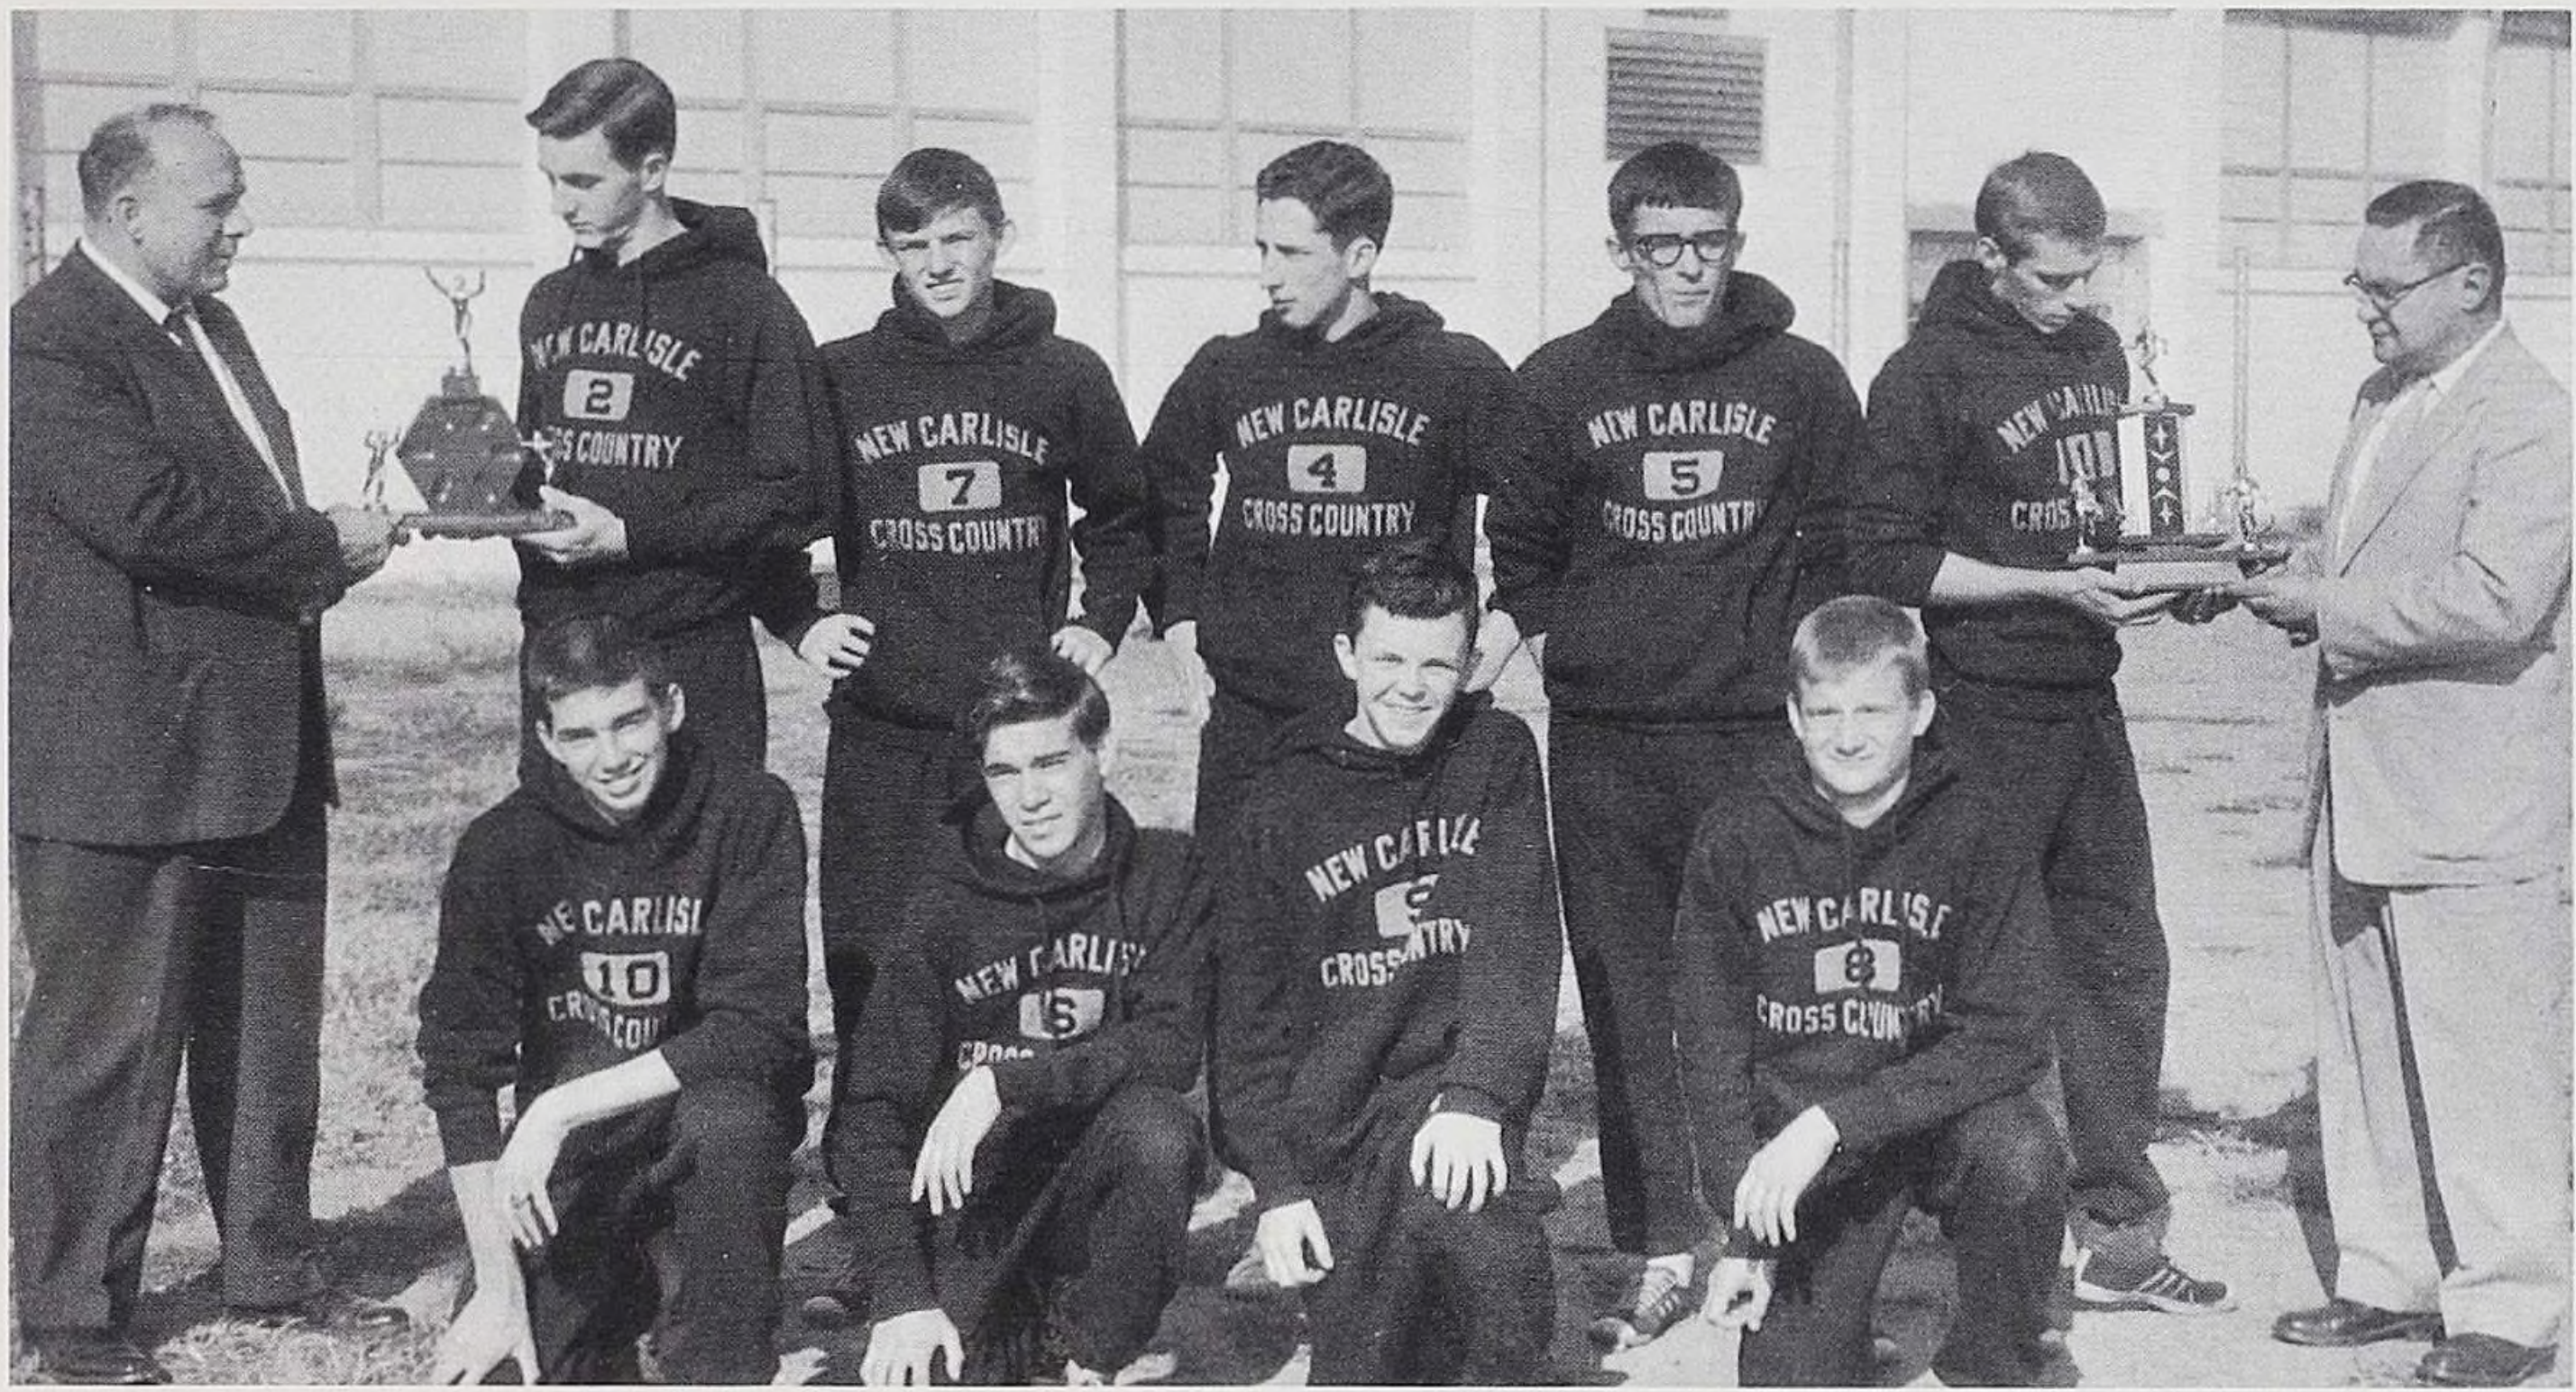

Gymnastics Added to School Sponsored Sports.

Gymnastics, one of the toughest and most demanding sports, builds muscles, develops co-ordination, and is becoming more popular. Led by coach Don Kane, the team met before school hours to master the still rings, horizontal bars, free exercise and mat work.

Wrestling has been an upcoming sport in New Carlisle. With coach Don Kane leading the team, they held a meet with Concord for the student body and demonstrated the fundamentals of the sport. They participated in the Penn and Goshen Invitationals.

Cross Country Team, STANDING, 1 to r: Mr. Amzie Miller, J. Trumble, B. Clendennen, J. Milliken, C. Bealor, R. Snyder, Mr. Blaine Gamble; KNEELING: G. Hullinger, D. Skaggs, R. Higgins, J. Golden.

Cross Country Team Brought Home County Title.

Coached by Mr. Blaine Gamble, the cross country team brought home the County Championship trophy this year. The team also won the first NCHS Cross Country Invitational meet. The team ended the season with 10 wins and 6 losses.

The cross country team's members spent most of their time working "around" the football field.

Jim Lambie tries to pin his opponent during the wrestling meet put on for the student body.

Cheerleaders Demonstrated Spirit and Sportsmanship.

Selected by the student body to represent it at all sports activities were the varsity cheerleaders. They were Chris Graham, Gayle Wilson, Margie Zakrowski, and Nanci Nicodemus.

The high spirits and enthusiasm of the varsity cheerleaders kept the spectators at football games from noticing the cold weather. Here, the cheerleaders run out onto the football field to do a cheer.

The B-team cheerleaders Dianne McNutt, Peggy Watson, Jennie Amen, and Ardith Kleine, pause for a rest during one of their practice sessions.

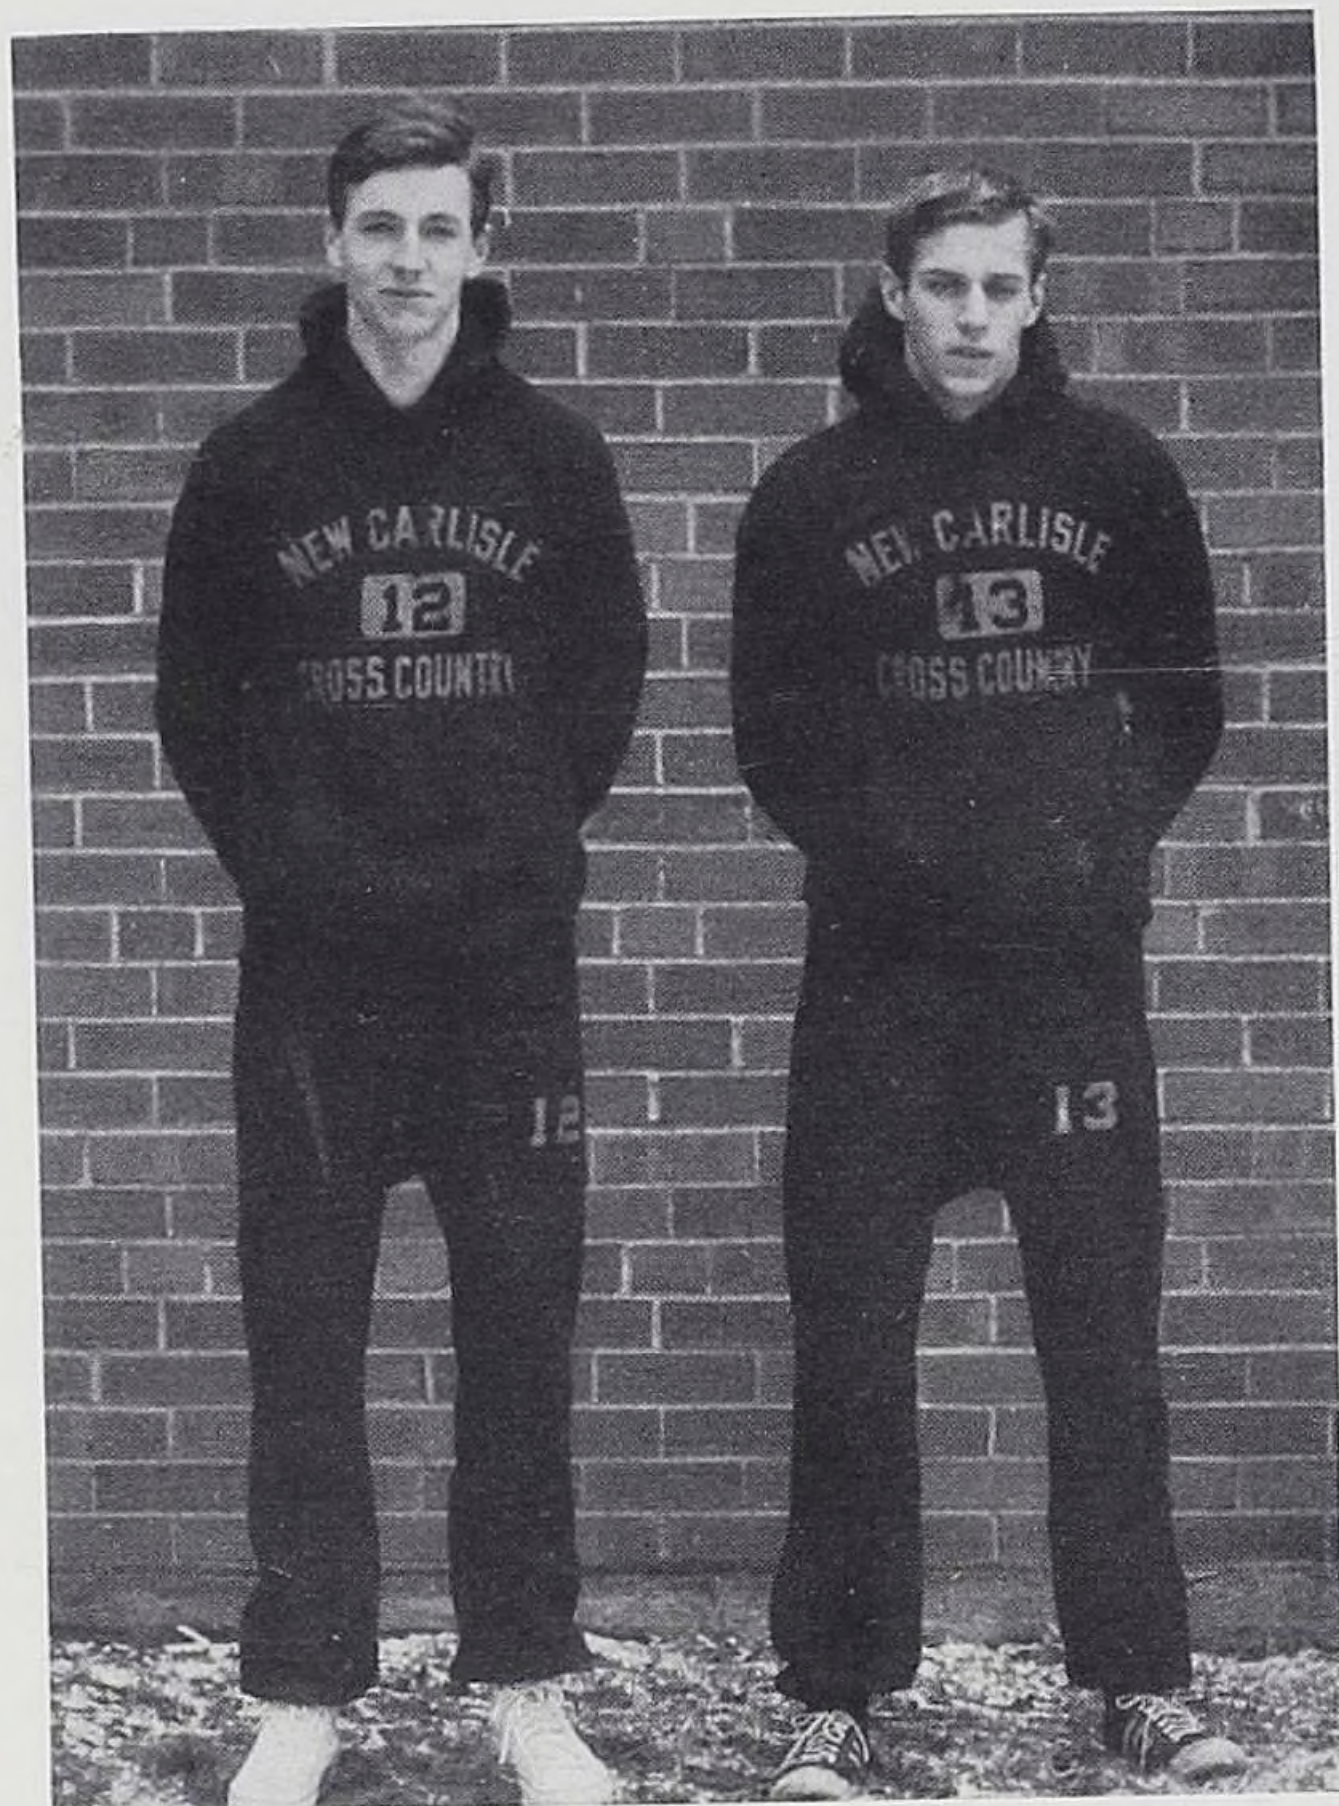

The Varsity cheerleaders lead a football crowd in the school song after a touchdown has been scored.

Letters Were Presented to Sports Participants.

Another presentation of the candidates was made at the Alumni Dance in the elementary gymnasium after the Homecoming Game. The climax of the evening was the announcement and crowning of the Queens.

Sally Traxler, the choice of the student body, reigned as the 1964-65 Football Homecoming Queen. Royalty selected to represent other of the school's sports included Charlene Stoneburner as Basketball Queen, and Georgia Piech as Track Queen. Nanci Nicodemus and Peggy Watson composed the Queens' Court.

Senior Class Presents "Warm Wednesday"

Shery Roncier, the play's main character, is an attractive young girl who disappeared shortly before her marriage to the wealthy Len Scott. This disappearance resulted after Jeff Kingman, her love since childhood, returned from New York in an attempt to dissuade her from the marriage. Throughout the play Shery's family and friends recall the past events that have shaped her life into that of a money-hungry position seeker. After taking a long look at herself, Shery returns to friends and family ready to start a new life.

Under the direction of Miss Susan Hunsberger, the play was presented at two student assemblies, and an evening performance.

As members of the senior class of New Carlisle High School, we are already heading in the direction of adult life. There is no turning back once this journey has begun. When the students of this school have found their ways into the world of tomorrow, it is hoped that this volume will be a treasured memory of high school life and the beginning of that journey.
